ONE COW DEAD, 49 STARVING—Ray Winne of the Brabant Road, Town of Ulster, special agent in this area for the New York Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, examines part of starving herd of dairy cattle

Tompkins Probe Of Kickbacks Is To Start Monday

Former State Senator Bernard Tompkins of Queens, appointed by Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz to supercede District Attorney Howard C. St. John in the Ulster County probe into alleged "kickbacks" from road oil concerns, arrived in Kingston Tuesday afternoon.

After holding an hour and a half conference with District Attorney St. John, Tompkins said he would return to Kingston next Monday to begin the investigation.

May Pick Main Street

While in town Tuesday several sites for office space were inspected. No definite site was selected, although a property on Main Street was considered quite suitable. Considerable space will be required for office, conference rooms and other facilities by Special Prosecutor Tompkins and his staff.

During the conference Tuesday, District Attorney St. John said today Tompkins had stated that his staff would be "quite large" but the personnel had not yet been determined.

No Decision on Jury

No decision has been made as yet whether a new special grand jury will be drawn to hear the evidence or whether the present grand jury, drawn for January Supreme Court will be continued. District Attorney St. John said today Senator Tompkins had stated the probe to be conducted by his staff would be "non-partisan" and no single individual would be made a target of the investigation.

Will Give Minutes

District Attorney St. John said he had informed Senator Tompkins he would turn over to his staff all minutes of the grand jury investigation in relation to "kickbacks."

Alleged kickbacks to county officials came to light last fall when Harry Thayer, Ellenville village trustee, reported he had

Radel Says Special Bingo Vote Up to Public Demand

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today indicated that a special election to decide on whether to legalize bingo could be held if public interest grows to a point of demand, but otherwise no vote will be authorized before the general election in November.

Two requests received at last night's Common Council meeting were hopeful of early steps toward required local action on bingo as provided by state law.

From Fire Groups

They were from the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association and Rapid Hose Company.

Mayor Radel, last month, indicated interest in combining a

HELD FOR MENTAL TEST—Miss Elizabeth B. Collier, 74, refuses to permit George H. Tuscher (right) of the Division of Humane Work, New York Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, to enter barn. A search warrant was obtained. Man at left (unidentified) was reportedly hired to bury dead cattle. (Freeman photos)

49 Cows Found Starving On Highland Dairy Farm

A most revolting case of mistreatment of cattle has been disclosed at the Ulsterdorp Farms, Highland, by agents of the New York Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The dairy farm, owned by Miss Grace Van B. Roberts, was once a very prosperous business but in recent years has declined to a point where agents Tuesday found the herd of cattle at the point of starvation.

Many of the cows were so weakened from lack of food that they were unable to stand. Others were "skin and bones." Some weighed "less than 300 pounds," according to agents who visited the farm.

Accompanied by officials from the Ulster County Sheriff's office, the agents of the New York S.P.C.A. secured a warrant of arrest for Miss Elizabeth B. Collier, 74, who was allegedly in charge of the cattle.

Barns Padlocked

On visiting the farm, which is located just south of the Highland bridge circle, the agents and deputies were denied admission to the two barns which were found padlocked.

A warrant for search of the premises was secured from Justice of the Peace Louis Canino and the officers again visited the premises and after threatening to break into the buildings, unless they were opened, Miss Collier admitted the officials to the barns.

The sight inside the barns was most revolting.

Nine cows were found so weak they were unable to stand. One cow was dead in the barn. About 40 others were found in a weakened and starved condition.

Woman Held for Test

Miss Collier was arrested on a charge of failure to provide proper subsistence for animals, a violation of Section 185 of the Penal Code.

Total War Predicted By Sunday

Rebels, Batista Troops in Clashes

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro's rebels cut off communications to Santiago today and his patrols clashed with government forces in other sectors in the war against President Fulgencio Batista.

Rebels clashed frequently with Batista's troops around Manzanillo and Bayamo. The army reported 16 rebels killed in the last 24 hours.

Union Chief Shot

In Pinar, Del Rio Province in western Cuba, rebels shot and wounded Pedro Acosta Cuni, secretary general of the Transportation Union, as he entered his home. A woman neighbor also was wounded.

Castro launched his offensive by stepping up attacks on transport and communications in Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province, where his 16-month-old guerrilla war is strongest.

Communications continued to be normal outside Oriente and Havana businesses operated as usual. Batista's troops and police, on almost continuous alert for months, braced to meet the rebel threat.

Highways Deserted

Castro supporters said total war against Batista would be extended to the rest of Cuba after midnight Saturday, the rebel deadline for the President to quit.

Roving rebel bands cut telegraph lines to the Oriente provincial capital of Santiago, fired upon transport moving in the area and spread oil and nails on the roads. As a result most bus and rail workers stopped work around Santiago and highways were almost deserted.

Commercial flights between Santiago and Manzanillo, 85 miles to the west, were suspended. Rebels blew up eight high-voltage towers in the province and burned a Sinclair Oil Co. gasoline tank trailer. Clashes between government troops and rebels were reported near Santiago, Varadero and Holguin.

Gunsman Wait for Action

Inside Santiago, government machine-guns waited in sand-bagged buildings for action. Shopkeepers fled from the streets as rebel leaflets threatened that thousands of armed men soon would march on the city of 120,000 persons.

Castro has called for attacks to paralyze communications throughout Cuba when he opens what he calls total war against Batista during the coming Easter weekend. The 31-year-old rebel leader plans to call a general strike against the President.

Without waiting for the strike call, some sugar mill employees in Oriente Province joined transport workers in walkouts.

To meet the situation Batista obtained from Congress further dictatorial powers for 45 days. The President was authorized to increase the armed forces and to take all necessary steps to keep the nation's transport and communications operating, including a declaration of martial law.

April 9 Deadline For Paying First Tax Installment

April 9 is the last day to pay the first half of city general taxes without penalty, it was announced today by Orrie R. Riehl, city treasurer.

After that date there will be a five per cent penalty, Riehl said, and a fee of one dollar for notice.

Tax payments mailed must be postmarked not later than midnight April 9, according to the city treasurer.

Schools Listed As Polls Today On Consolidation

Kingston City residents are voting today on the proposed school consolidation with 25 rural districts which surround the city.

The polls opened at noon and will close at 9 o'clock tonight. Election staffs are made up of volunteers from school Parent-Teacher Association units.

Voting Locations

Voting places for residents of the various wards of the city are as follows:

Wards	Voting Places
One and 10	School 8
Two	School 6
Three	School 5
Four and Five	School 4
Six	School 3
Seven and Eight	School 2
Nine	MJM School 11 and 13
12	Washington School 7

Eligibility Rules

Both property owners and non-property owners are eligible to vote.

It is also pointed out that non-parents as well as parents are also eligible.

A person is an eligible voter if he is a citizen of the United States, 21 years of age, a resident of the state for one year next preceding the election, of the county for the preceding four months and of the city for 30 days.

All Urged to Vote

The poll on consolidation is regarded as one of the most important in the history of Kingston.

Everybody is urged to vote by 9 o'clock tonight.

Those needing transportation may call their own school or William Scaffidi at FE 8-1936.

Watson Has Plan On Employe Stock

ENDICOTT (AP)—President Thomas J. Watson Jr. of the International Business Machines Corp. has announced a plan under which employees would be able to buy common stock in the company at a 15 per cent discount.

A notice posted at the IBM plant here said employees who have been with the company for at least a year would be eligible.

The plan will be proposed to the stockholders at the annual meeting April 29 in New York City.

Watson said restrictions would be enforced to ensure that "average" employees, rather than high-salaried executive, participated.

Bi-Partisan Surveys Start

Aldermen's Assistance Asked on Street Plans

A bid for Common Council cooperation in starting the 1958 street repair program went to the aldermen last night in the form of a letter from Mayor Edwin F. Radel, who asked all to assist in the survey and listing of streets in all wards needing rebuilding or repair.

A former method of handling voucher sums forwarded by the Kingston City Library was changed as proposed in a state audit report, and a Council committee was named to assist in preparations for the Memorial Day program.

Asks Downtown Break

A request by Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward for alternating spring and fall clean-up schedules so that they could start every other year downtown was referred to the Board of Public Works. In former years, he noted, clean-up work started in the uptown area.

Mayor Radel's letter on the forthcoming street repair program asked the aldermen individually to aid "in this program by supplying me with lists of the streets in your ward that require rebuilding (not patching) and list them in the order of their priority as you appraise it."

Survey Trips Held

In the past few weeks, he said, "I have instituted several bi-partisan or full council survey trips on water facilities equipment, and land-fill sites. These seemed to be well attended and appreciated. If you are pleased with this bi-partisan approach to the major problems we mutually face, I would be pleased to hear your comments, and arrange a similar tour of our proposed street program to make each and every alderman personally familiar with the magnitude of this problem."

This year, "as always," the mayor said, "the situation is serious. This becomes obvious to anyone using many of our streets. It is not only serious, but expensive, as you aldermen, who have served before, well know."

Many reasons were behind this "recurring problem," he held, and among them were "poor maintenance at times when effective and durable maintenance jobs can be accomplished," plus, "the theory that past negligence is responsible for the present conditions."

Must Do Effective Job

"Only by doing a thorough and effective job during good warm, dry weather can we accomplish anything substantial. Even then, you cannot anticipate the severity of the winter weather." This year, he noted, it included "heavy snow storms, long periods of rain, and constant changing of temperature from extreme cold spells to extended periods of unseasonably warm weather. This type of weather coupled with porous pavement, and frost action, are the cause of the severe and sad condition of our streets."

"I inform your honorable body that the public works superintendent and his personnel will be informed that every effort will be made to get the maximum value of street rebuilding and street repair from the money spent on these programs."

Memorial Day Committee

A committee of three to assist with the Memorial Day program was named by Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye on suggestion of the mayor who forwarded information from John Ray Mayone, program chairman. It was noted that the program this year is the responsibility of The Company M Veterans Association.

Additional Pay Is Going To 1,100 Area Idle First

Anthony C. Hart, manager of the Kingston unemployment insurance office, New York State Department of Labor, said today he has started the job of putting into effect the retroactive benefit rate changes called for by unemployment insurance law amendments effective since last Monday.

The amendments add nine new top benefit rates higher than the present $36 maximum; fix $45 as the new highest rate; and call for back-payment at new rates ranging from $37 to $45 for all claimants who started benefit years on or after July 1, 1957 and had average base wages of $73 a week or more.

Claimants whose average wage was between $70 and $72.99 will stay at the $36 rate.

His office will concentrate first on making additional payments to persons who are currently unemployed and entitled to rate increases. About 1,100 may be affected.

In many cases, additional wage information will have to be secured first from employers. Questionnaires will be mailed to employers as necessary, calling for reply within seven days.

As replies are received, claimants' average weekly wages will be recalculated to determine whether rate increases are called for.

To Send Lump-Sum Check

Where a rate increase is indicated, payment in the future will be at the new rate and a lump-sum check will be sent to the claimant to make up the difference between his old and new benefit rate for past periods.

When rate changes have been made for all currently unemployed

Peaceful Uses Are Stressed

Defense Changes Are Due Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to create a new civilian agency to run America's space exploration program.

His request was in a special message to Congress. It went to the legislators immediately after a news conference at which the President said he will have another special message tomorrow on his program for reorganization of the Defense Department.

Would Add Authority

One aim of the defense reorganization plan, Eisenhower said, is to strengthen authority of the secretary of defense in military strategy matters.

Eisenhower told Congress in his message asking for the new space agency that it would absorb the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics and would be responsible "for an imaginative and well-conceived program."

The new agency would administer space projects as well as conduct space research. It would cooperate closely with the Defense Department in carrying out some military space research, but the accent would be on peaceful uses of outer space.

Has Responsibility

At his news conference, Eisenhower indicated that his defense reorganization message will stress the importance of giving the secretary of defense authority commensurate with his responsibility.

The secretary, he said, has direct responsibility in making strategic plans and supervising their operation.

He said he will suggest that Congress give Secretary McElroy additional financial flexibility, to make possible day-by-day changes in the military setup to meet changing conditions.

Must Wield Influence

Eisenhower said the secretary must wield the decisive influence in over-all planning, supported and advised by the Joint Chiefs of Staff who must run the separate services for him.

Substantial two-party backing for the Pentagon reorganization plan, and also for an upcoming proposal for an agency to direct civilian space exploration efforts, already had been indicated on the basis of advance reports.

On the basis of preliminary briefings Sen. Bridges (R-NH) called the defense proposals "moderate" and leading legislators predicted approval.

Mansfield Lauds Plans

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) acting Democratic leader, agreed as to session of the Senate preparedness subcommittee tomorrow to tell what the military are doing to meet problems of the missile-satellite age. The meeting was postponed from today.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), a subcommittee member, said that from what he learned of the reorganization plan at two White House conferences he regards it as "practical and helpful." He said he thinks Congress will approve its major points.

Opposition Declines

Prospective congressional opposition declined sharply yesterday with Bridges' announcement that no attempt will be made to set up a single military commander. Bridges had strongly opposed any such move.

Other sources reported the proposals before Eisenhower for his final decisions would give the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff a vote. They also would provide the facilities for the heads of the individual services to assign operating duties to deputies so they could devote more time to strategy.

If Eisenhower accepts the recommendations made to him by McElroy, the defense secretary would be given limited authority to transfer congressional appropriations. McElroy, for instance, could transfer research and development funds from one service to another, but he would not be permitted to spend such funds for other than research and development.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — A few price cuts are appearing here and there today even at the retail level—as welcome to the consumer as the first signs of spring.

In general prices have defied the recession. To the confusion of most folk the cost of living goes on rising although in many lines industrial output has tumbled.

Some Materials Fall

But some industrial materials did fall in price—copper, lead, zinc and now aluminum. The big Canadian producer of aluminum says frankly that it is cutting the price in the hope of finding more customers in those fields where aluminum competes with other metals.

Since the average consumer doesn't buy industrial materials, he pays little heed to their price fluctuations, until they are finally passed along to him in finished goods. For a long time now prices have gone only one way—up.

Nor does the consumer care very much about the manufac-ture's costs. He's interested primarily in the final price to him.

Lower prices at retail still are quite spotty and inconclusive, outside of the usual clearance sales and the running battle between the discounters and the department stores.

Catalogs List Cuts

But now two large mail order houses are out with new catalogs, showing in a number of instances price cuts of some 13 per cent since the start of the year. A third says it is readying some price cuts, too.

Dropping of fair trade restrictions on retail prices by some makers of small home appliances has brought bargains—and sales—in these lines.

Surpluses in the oil industry has caused gasoline price wars in a number of localities, although the industry is striving mightily to bring supply into balance with demand by cutting back production of crude oil to the lowest point in a long time.

Large inventories of unsold new cars have led many motorists to seek—and often to find—models to their liking at trade in deals that are well below the suggested list prices of the car makers.

The latest big jump in the government's cost of living index was blamed largely on higher food prices. These in turn were blamed on the bad winter in the south which cut supplies of fruits and vegetables and on fewer livestock being shipped to market because ranchers were rebuilding their herds with the end of the long drought.

More Cuts in Offing

Later in the spring the fruit and vegetable shortage should be eased by new crops, and more livestock is expected to be shipped in the summer and fall.

But the cost of living index went up for other reasons, too. The charge for services still increases. Transportation costs tend to go higher here and there. Rents haven't stopped their long slow uphill climb.

But the current popular theory that prices must always rise and that nothing can bring them down is far from proved. The consumer can hope at least for a few more price cuts from time to time.

Sage Remark

One unidentified sage remarked: "Children are natural mimics—they act like their parents in spite of every attempt to teach them good manners."

Are Films Putting Extra Emphasis On Crime Stories?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Is there too much crime in movies?

The question arose last week when FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover appealed to the film industry to soft pedal films glorifying crime. Hoover wrote Eric Johnston, head of the movie producers:

"As a law enforcement officer, I am deeply concerned by an apparent trend in the motion picture field. . . The matter relates to motion pictures which traverse the bounds of common decency and result in the glorification of the gangster and his elevation as a false idol for American youth. . ."

Two More Ready

The "trend" was caused by the amazing success of the Mickey Rooney film, "Baby Face Nelson." But the producers' association says only two films are now slated to follow in Nelson's bloody footsteps.

One is "Machine Gun Kelly," now completed. The other is "The Bonnie Parker Story," in production. Both come from an independent company. There has been talk of films on Pretty Boy Floyd and others, but none has materialized.

Power Removed

A spokesman for the production code office told me what is being done about crime pictures.

"We can't stop the making of films about crime," he explained. "The code revisions of a year ago did away with many restrictions on such matters as kidnapping, dope, tommy guns, etc."

"What we can do is prohibit the sympathetic portrayal of criminals and we are strict about that. Also, we can try to limit excessive brutality—the mass slaughter of citizens with tommy guns, etc."

Most of the crime films are made by independents, he pointed out. The code has no control over the quickie makers, yet many of them submit their scripts to the Johnston office. The reason: they expect less trouble with censors throughout the United States and the world if they have a code seal.

Independents Don't Worry

The Johnston office knows the censorship troubles in foreign lands. England, Germany and Australia have right rules about violence and crime. India and Indonesia often ban films with too much violence.

"Of course, many independents don't worry about the foreign market," the spokesman added. "They expect to make a quick profit with sensational pictures in this country."

The Motion Picture Assn. has long taken the view that no criminal was ever created by exposure to crime movies, TV, comic books or other media. The spokesman observed that gangsters like Nelson lack an identification for today's youth; they have become almost folk figures like Jesse James.

But films about juvenile delinquents are another matter. The code can do nothing to stem the flow; it can only tone down the violence.

The spokesman said the prevalence of such films is more noticeable because two are often exhibited in a package. The industry has had complaints about the juvenile delinquency films and will be getting more.

Union Services For Good Friday Set by Churches

The annual Good Friday three-hour service of the Protestant Churches will be held in the sanctuary of the Fair Street Reformed Church, Fair and Pearl Streets, from 12 noon to 3 p. m. Kingston ministers will lead the meditations on the Seven Words from the Cross.

The Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the meditation of the first word, "Father, Forgive Them;" the Rev. David G. Gaise, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the second word, "This Day Thou Shalt Be With Me;" the Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, the third word, "Woman, Behold Thy Son;" the Rev. Dr. Clyde H. Snell, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, the fourth word, "My God, Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me?"; the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, the fifth word, "I Thirst;" the Rev. Dr. Kenneth N. Alexander, pastor of the St. James Methodist Church, the sixth word, "It is Finished;" the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the Old Dutch Church, the seventh word, "Father, Into Thy Hands I Commend My Spirit."

The music for the service will include: Organ prelude, "Adagio" by Vrethblad; anthem "The Agony," the Crucifixion, by Stainer; anthem "Verily Thou Shalt Be," the Seven Last Words, by DuBois; anthem "O Saviour of the World" by Matthews; solo "God My Father," the Seven Last Words by DuBois; anthem "Go to Dark Gethsemane" by Noble; anthem, "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord," Elijah, by Mendelssohn; anthem "He is the Lonely Greatness of the World" by Andrews; organ postlude, "Adoramus Te" by Dubois.

The chorus is made up of members of the senior and youth choirs of the Fair Street Church and is under the direction of Percy W. Gazley II. The soloists are: Mrs. Harold Lindsey, soprano; Mrs. Elmer Nathan, contralto; Richard Baker, tenor; John Rich, baritone. Mrs. William E. Eltinge, church organist, will play for the service.

Mechanics Won't Meet

Due to the observance of Holy Week, the regular meeting of Charles DeWitt Council, 91, JOUAM, will not be held Good Friday, April 4. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Friday, April 11, at 8 p. m. at the Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry Street.

Hot Wood Stays Cool

The discovery of cooking over magnetic coils, which set up eddy currents and keep utensils floating two inches above the surface of a range, has made it possible to build kitchen stoves out of hardwood plywood. The magnetic currents do the cooking and the wooden stove never gets hot.

KHRUSHCHEV'S FUTURE

It is plain enough that Nikita Khrushchev has enlarged his power by adding the Soviet premiership to his already strong role as boss of the Russian Communist party. It is still not certain that he has the inherent strength to climb the heights Stalin ascended.

Russian society has conflicting elements—the government and managerial class, the party ruling clique, the army, and sometimes the secret police.

When Stalin took command of both the government and the party, as Khrushchev has now done, he employed two devices to make his iron control complete. One was a small, tight ruling group in the highest reaches of government, which was in fact above both the government and party. The other was the secret police.

Khrushchev may imagine that eventually he can do the same. But it will take time, if it can be brought off at all. For he himself helped to crush the authority of the secret police under the late Lavrenti Beria. And an effective ruling group such as Stalin had cannot be fashioned overnight.

Meantime, as some specialists on Russia see it, there is danger for Khrushchev in his dual role.

He can hardly devote as much time to vital party affairs as he formerly did. When he names a second in command, as he almost certainly must, he may be forging a weapon that one day could be used against him.

Furthermore, by moving into the government realm himself, he assigns new strength to that element in its competition with the party for supremacy. The two have been in hot conflict at many levels and many places in recent months.

Indeed, Khrushchev may believe that his blending of the two in his own person may possibly help to resolve some of these differences. But some expert opinion in this country suggests that ultimately the result may be just the reverse.

Both government and the party may be stronger—against Khrushchev.

If this is not to happen, then Khrushchev must work at top speed to find the means of capping this new triumph, of enforcing his will Stalin-style upon all elements of the Soviet structure, and of solving enough of the problems now in his lap so that he can escape the blame that will attach to failure.

As far as he has gone, he still has a steep way to go.

It is reported that a number of young women shed tears when the Army whisked Elvis Presley away for a tour of duty. It has not been established whether this was unrequited love or unrequited love of publicity.

UNENDING TASK

Our pride in our third successful satellite launching must not be allowed to fade gradually but inexorably into new complacency.

A 3-to-2 margin over the Russians is not exactly a safe lead to take into the late innings of the contest for outer space. The newest space vehicle may, moreover, have a very short life.

Our rocket and satellite scientists and technicians obviously are a good deal better at their jobs than either we or a lot of people abroad thought in the dark days of Russian successes.

But they, and all those entrusted with the security and military-scientific advancement of this nation, have many hard tasks ahead. We dare not assume that the Russians are not trying desperately—by the day—to get their third, their fourth and eventually their fiftieth vehicle into orbit.

This contest, like the great East-West struggle of which it is a part, goes on without rest. The nation which rests may one day never get up.

Merchants report most of the chemise or "sack" dresses are being bought by young and slim women. They can accept the challenge with less risk that men may look the other way.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY TIME MARCHES ON

In 1954, the Committee for Economic Development, which was founded by Paul Hoffman, took the position that the United States "reduce our tariffs and other barriers to foreign trade on a gradual and selective basis." This same committee in March 1958 takes the same position despite the influx of cheap-labor, low-taxes, subsidized foreign goods into the American market at a time of spiraling unemployment in American industry.

One would imagine that Thomas D. Cabot, formerly president of the United Fruit Company, who is responsible for the 1958 report, would recognize that time marches on and that it could be perilous for this country to be further weakened by discontented and even frightened labor. Unemployment is the most serious social disease that we can face; the ravages of it are visible for decades.

Cabot's reasoning is most interesting. First he quotes Khrushchev as saying:

"We declare war upon you—peaceful war for using such an expression—in the peaceful field of trade."

"We declare a war. We will win over the United States. The threat to the United States is not the ICBM, but in the field of peaceful production. We are relentless in this and it will prove the superiority of our system."

Having said this, Cabot proceeds to establish: "As far as foreign trade is concerned, this is no idle boast. Soviet Bloc-Free World trade increased 77 per cent from 1952 to 1956. In 1956 the Bloc accounted for over ten per cent of the total trade of seven Free World under-developed countries. Over 20 per cent of the total trade of Afghanistan, Iceland, Egypt and Yugoslavia was with Bloc countries; about 17 per cent of Turkey's, 16 per cent of Burma's and 12 per cent of Iran's."

"Western Europe and Latin America, areas of crucial importance to the United States, also figured prominently in Soviet Bloc trade in 1956. Sixty-eight per cent of the Bloc's total external trade in 1956, and 70 per cent of the increase in the Bloc's total foreign trade from 1952 to 1956, occurred with Western Europe."

What has actually happened is an unexpected and even astonishing development in international banking and trade, namely, that Soviet Russia has become a large-scale capitalist in world banking and merchandising. Soviet Russia lends money, lends goods, sells goods, gives away goods, underwrites developments, barter, trades and is flexible on the subject of hard or soft currency, possessing both in enormous quantities. Adequate statistics are unavailable as to the total amount of gold possessed by Soviet Russia. There have been estimates that it is as high as $12,000,000,000—maybe more. Whatever it is, Russian gold has been appearing on the free gold market, particularly in the London Gold Exchange. It is suspected, but not established, that some Russian gold has appeared in Swiss banks to be used in take-over activities in this country and in Great Britain.

The C.E.D. is apparently conscious of this new type of capitalist activity on the part of Soviet Russia and is duly frightened by it. But Soviet Russia does not maintain a free market within the Soviet Union. State. There all goods are closely controlled, locally manufactured, imported, exported. As the government is the sole purchaser of the total manufacture and of the total import, no tariff is necessary. In Soviet Russia, the government owns and manages the means of production, distribution and exchange and therefore in the economic field, the government's decisions are not questionable by private persons.

Let us take an example. Let us say that Soviet Russia, for political reasons, decides to buy an enormous share of the Brazilian coffee crop—more coffee than can be consumed in Russia where the people prefer tea.

This would be a barter transaction between the two governments. It would undoubtedly be subject to political as well as economic considerations. The price of coffee, per pound or per ton, would be decided along political lines without regard to economic conditions. It would be Soviet Russia's hope to recoup whatever losses developed by selling the coffee elsewhere or take a loss as a cost of the cold war. The objective of the transaction would be to wean Brazil away from the United States and to open its doors to Communist activities.

This is unrelated to tariffs, free trade or the free market. It is a new device developed first by Dr. Schacht of Hitler's Germany. (Copyright, 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Virus-Caused Hepatitis Is Elusive Disease of Liver
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Interest in the disease variously known as viral hepatitis, infectious hepatitis, or epidemic hepatitis continues unabated.

This is a disease, the principal characteristic of which is the invasion of the body with a virus attacking the liver.

Two kinds are known: serum hepatitis, which is acquired by inoculation of contaminated blood or its products containing what is called hepatitis virus B; and infectious hepatitis, probably acquired by direct contact and caused by what is called hepatitis virus A.

The symptoms and signs of these two viral diseases are alike to a considerable degree. Which is responsible may be determined by blood testing.

THE ONSET of infectious hepatitis may be gradual with loss of appetite the only first symptoms. Diagnosis is frequently difficult.

It is during the early phase, or incubation period, of the disease that it is most contagious to others. Consequently, contacts should usually receive injections of a substance known as immune serum globulin which may prevent the disorder.

In the usual simple case of infectious hepatitis, with or without jaundice, diet and rest are the most important features of treatment. The patient must take plenty of liquids. Alcohol in any form is taboo.

The outlook for recovery from infectious hepatitis is generally good. Recovery, however, frequently takes a long time and occasionally there are those who develop serious signs of insufficiency of the liver, or in whom the disease runs a particularly long course.

In either case special care and treatment are in order.

NEVERTHELESS the average victim of the disease requires little special treatment, but must recognize that it is long lasting and that return to activity should be gradual.

It seems likely that infectious hepatitis is not a new disease, although the name is of comparatively recent origin. Probably in the past it was often called catarrhal jaundice, and doubtless many patients who suffered from it recovered completely without a diagnosis ever having been made.

There are many points of interest in connection with this disease and, of course, we don't know all we want to know about it.

Sometimes the question arises as to whether a person can develop infectious hepatitis from a dog who has a disease called by the same name. Dog infectious hepatitis is caused by a different virus which is apparently not dangerous to human beings. Consequently there is no danger on this score.

Washington News

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Vice President Richard M. Nixon faces a different kind of job when he heads for South America at the end of April. He has already started studying for it.

Most VIP good-will missions are intended to cement international political relations. But there is nothing particularly bad about such relations between the United States and the South American republics today.

Nearly all of the political pot-boiling now going on over revolutions and elections is found in Central America and the West Indies. South America — where Nixon is going — is relatively quiet politically at the moment.

Its difficulties are predominantly economic. And this fact has apparently not yet registered on Washington.

AN EXAMPLE is furnished by the recent first meeting this year of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on Latin American Affairs. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) is chairman.

Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs Roy R. Rubottom went up to report with a carefully prepared statement on economic difficulties in the area. He was allowed to read it. Then it was promptly dropped.

Such questioning as followed was completely on political and military affairs. What about the U. S. military aid programs for Latin America? Were U. S. furnished arms being used by dictatorial governments to suppress civil liberties in countries like Cuba and Guatemala?

What did the secretary think of asking the UN to supervise Latin-American elections? What was the reason for handcuffing ousted Cuban President Carlos Prío Socarras when he was recently questioned in Florida, as a political refugee, for alleged collaboration with Cuban rebels? And why was ex-President Perez Jimenez of Venezuela being given asylum in the United States?

These were the things that seemed to bother the senators most—not the more fundamental economic difficulties.

THE FACT THAT political chaos would follow if these countries are financially ruined wasn't seriously considered.

What has happened is that the U. S. recession has rubbed off first and hardest in Latin America. Half of its exports come to the United States. They were valued at four billion dollars last year. All this money was spent on U. S. exports.

Fifteen Latin-American countries export coffee. It is the principal dollar-earner for five of them. When the price of coffee goes down, they all feel it.

Other major exports include copper, lead, zinc and oil, in addition to sugar and bananas from the Caribbean area.

Cuba last year was able to maintain her purchases of U. S. manufactured goods only because the Cubans were able to sell sugar to Russia for dollars.

THE POSSIBILITY of U. S. tariff increases on copper, lead and zinc imports, to protect U. S. domestic producers, constantly hangs over the heads of Latin-American mines.

Import quotas to protect U. S. producers against competition from Latin-American oil have the same effect. This hits principally at Venezuela.

NEW YORK, April 1—From my hotel in New York I sometimes can see the big red wagons roll through the traffic, screeching and screaming and snorting on their way to douse a little smolder in an awning or a wastebasket or—your never can tell. That is the life of a fireman. He may go for weeks with no more business than you could handle with a bucket of water. But—he never can tell.

In the last few years the loss of life in tenement fires in New York and Chicago has been going up. Boston has had bad luck, too, and a Boston fireman told me the trouble there was that a lot of old frame houses and old flat buildings with wooden timbers and floors are still in service through those bitter winters when the gas burners and family stoves and go to bed.

One cold night a few weeks ago I was sitting with a city detective in his own car on Lexington Avenue, facing north, when the engines came yawling out of 49th Street, which is a westbound street, barged through the red light, then turned west in Fifth Street, against the traffic, and drove to alongside the Waldorf Tower. This is a dramatic production in New York, a fire show from a box alarh, even in fireproof buildings. No all of us react, nowadays, but my ears always come up.

The Waldorf Tower is quality. Herbert Hoover lives there and General MacArthur and, sometimes the Duke and Duchess, and miscellaneous carriage trade. Not that the firemen would do any more for them than for a hive of Puerto Ricans in a crowded firetrap in Harlem, where drunks are forever settling their bedding afire, but the presence of such characters, all with great bundles of clippings in the newspaper morgues, lends class to the occasion if a person has any imagination and appreciation. Can you fancy Wall, the Duchesse, doing a one-and-a-half out of a high window, in her night shirt, onto a fire department strapping down the ladder in his pajamas with his medals up? I said: "Look at that guy at that tiller" as the long one whipped around from 49th into Lexington and whipped from Lexington into 50th.

"I don't want any work on those ladders," my friend the cop said. "I don't see how they can stand the strain. They never know what they are going to face in a couple of minutes after that darn thing strikes and they jump on. Just piling through the traffic is risky enough, but when they get there they may find flames at the windows and women and kids screaming. The sight of those windows makes me sick at my stomach."

That was what a fireman in a house downtown wrote me once. I had done some flippancy about firemen, playing pinocle and knitting to while away the years until retirement. This fireman said that, confidentially, he and some others he could name, sometimes vomited during their same thing in the first war. When the strike and the whistles shrieked and the trench some soldiers got sick and weak, but up they went.

I walked around the corner. The doorman at the tower has been there for years, but I doubt he has seen the red wagons call more than a couple of times. He said it was somewhere up the service stairs. Firemen were hustling in, making shuffling noises with their boots and heavy slickers, lugging pikes and some mysterious new black boxes, whatever they are for. There were two executive cars with white helmets neatly arrayed in a row on the back shelf of each. And a radio telephone on one of the long wagons was jabbering away about fires here and there over the city in a feminine voice.

Most people just walked by with hardly a glance, but reporters of my generation never get the blasé about these things. In London a few years ago, I turned a corner in Soho, a dark, squalid section of squalid restaurants touted for atmosphere, and a bunch of pompoms were squirting little streams down a cellar window. Their fire engines were not much larger than laundry carts here and the English ladder wagons have a telescope or jack-knife device on top because they could never get one long enough through their narrow, angular streets. I remarked to an English friend that these fellows were very quiet about it.

"Do they make a row in America?" she said.

That isn't quite the way to put it.

We raise hell in America. Any fire is a very dramatic occasion. I doubt whether otherwise you could get young fellows to join the department and ride those wild wagons through the lights and, now seven or eight stories long, to guide frightened, weak, clumsy people down to the pavements, so often because some bum, of either sex, be it stipulated, has conked off with a cigarette going and set fire to a tenement that goes up like a match.

No wonder they sometimes vomit when their number strikes. (Copyright, 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Baruch's Advice Described As Pointed and Objective

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Bernard M. Baruch, elder statesman, has no ax to grind. He is retired from any business activity and devotes himself to philanthropic and public-service interest. What he says, therefore, out of an abundance of experience with the ups and downs of the national economy, can be listened to with confidence by all groups—labor, management and political parties.

And "B. M." as he is familiarly known here, tells the Senate Finance Committee at its hearings that the danger of inflation is greater than the dangers of the present recession. He deplores the pressure of every economic group for advantages for itself and argues against tax cuts, even hinting that some tax increases might be necessary.

"Each group," he says, "wants to shift the burden of dislocation to some one else. Each wants special consideration, a arguing that its wages or prices or profits must be kept up to avoid a depression."

Dangerous Motion
"Nothing is more dangerous than this notion that economic salvation lies through government intervention. Government did not keep us from getting into our present condition. How can we rely upon it to get us out of it?"

"A tax cut will increase the deficit, add to the debt and further weaken the government's credit. To reduce revenues before our defenses are secure and our debt manageable is uneconomic and immoral."

But Mr. Baruch's main fire is directed against the wage-price spiral. He says:

"Nothing would be more effective in turning the tide than to halt the never-ending spiral of wages and prices. The best of our economy would come from price reductions. The consumer, who has no lobby or bargaining agent, is belatedly rebelling against having every wage and cost increase passed on to him. If industry and labor continue to push up wage, price and profit levels, they will price themselves out of the market."

Which would the nation prefer — economic anarchy as at present, with its dangerous declines and the accumulating huge deficits in the Treasury as "pump priming" measures are voted by Congress, or some form of economic restraint such as wage and price control? If the Congress voted for a one-year wage-and-price control law, it could halt the trend toward inflation at least long enough to permit the national economy to gain strength. But if nothing is to be done to restrain organized greed—and particularly the politically minded union leaders who feel they cannot hold their offices unless they win increases in wages—then the present recession will indeed deepen into a real depression, and the end result could be wage and price control anyhow.

So the alternatives which elder statesman Baruch now presents are unmistakably clear in their warning of the disaster that lies ahead unless the right measures of restraint are applied now.

Few men in Congress, for political reasons, would dare to come out in favor of the advice just given them, but an informed public opinion some day will have to demand that nobody really likes — namely, wage and price controls.

Unless Congress, which is eager to fight "administered prices" by industry, is as ready to do battle against industry—resulting in a national unions which set the wage costs and indirectly the prices of the major products in America today, the national economy will hardly wind up the current recession before it runs into an inflationary crisis and crash that may be much worse than anything yet experienced. (Reproduction Rights Reserved.)

Consumer resistance will grow, further depressing economic activity and adding to unemployment. Foreign goods will enter our markets in increasing quantities with unsettling effects on our domestic economy, our tariff policies and our allies and friends."

Hint of Alternative
There is in the Baruch statement a hint about the alternative—namely, wage and price control—as he declares:

"No one is more concerned than I am. But we must halt the wild, unmerited chase of prices, wages and profits. We prefer not to compel this by legislative fiat or executive order. We rely upon individual action, self-discipline and enlightened selfishness of labor and industrial leaders. If they cannot recognize that self-interest requires concern for the national interest, then they and the nation as a whole will be made to suffer. If they will not adjust voluntarily and in time to the law of supply and demand, the adjustment eventually forced on them will be much more painful."

"It would be an inspiring and salutary thing if the leaders of our great labor unions and business would jointly pledge to the President that for one year there will be no increase in wages or prices and that profit margins would at least be frozen."

More and more there is talk in Washington about the failure to restrain the labor monopolies which are eventually fixing higher and higher prices. The labor monopoly in the auto industry, for example, is about to increase the costs of automobiles.

Which would the nation prefer — economic anarchy as at present, with its dangerous declines and the accumulating huge deficits in the Treasury as "pump priming" measures are voted by Congress, or some form of economic restraint such as wage and price control? If the Congress voted for a one-year wage-and-price control law, it could halt the trend toward inflation at least long enough to permit the national economy to gain strength. But if nothing is to be done to restrain organized greed—and particularly the politically minded union leaders who feel they cannot hold their offices unless they win increases in wages—then the present recession will indeed deepen into a real depression, and the end result could be wage and price control anyhow.

So the alternatives which elder statesman Baruch now presents are unmistakably clear in their warning of the disaster that lies ahead unless the right measures of restraint are applied now.

Few men in Congress, for political reasons, would dare to come out in favor of the advice just given them, but an informed public opinion some day will have to demand that nobody really likes — namely, wage and price controls.

Unless Congress, which is eager to fight "administered prices" by industry, is as ready to do battle against industry—resulting in a national unions which set the wage costs and indirectly the prices of the major products in America today, the national economy will hardly wind up the current recession before it runs into an inflationary crisis and crash that may be much worse than anything yet experienced. The World Today
Dulles Admits
Loss to Soviet
On PropagandaBy JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—You are going to live—for a long, long time—in a world where both the United States and Russia hold in readiness hydrogen bombs that can blow each nation, and perhaps humanity, off the map.

That's the reality you face, so you can listen with one ear to the jockeying, the propaganda and the arguments now going on about stopping the tests of nuclear weapons.

Revealing Conference
That much is clear—although he didn't say it in so many words—from Secretary of State Dulles' news conference yesterday, one of the most revealing and productive conferences he's held in a long time.

This country suffered a propaganda defeat this week—and Dulles admitted it—when the Russians announced they would stop testing nuclear weapons themselves.

This didn't have much practical meaning since they left themselves an out: They said they'd feel free to resume their tests if this country continued testing. Since this country will, no doubt the Russians will.

And Dulles not only reaffirmed the American decision to have nuclear tests this summer but indicated the United States was thinking of more tests.

He said this country has been willing to stop its tests as part of a program leading to the elimination of nuclear weapons but that the Soviets don't show any inclination to go that far.

The idea that this country would be willing by itself to get rid of its nuclear weapons—built up at enormous cost over many years—looks like a pipe-dream and for very realistic reasons:

Biggest Deterrent
So long as this country has hydrogen bombs that can destroy the Soviet Union, the Russians will be reluctant to start a war of any kind. That's the biggest single deterrent to Soviet aggression this country has.

But if this country agreed to eliminate its hydrogen weapons, communism with its enormous manpower—both in Russia and Red China—would have a huge advantage over the West.

So the question arises: Would any American government in its right mind give the Soviets such an advantage? Even if some American administration wanted to do so, it's unlikely Congress would permit it.

Then Dulles explained why this country wants to go on testing: If nuclear weapons can't be eliminated altogether, then the United States wants to develop weapons which could destroy an enemy but be so refined that they would not destroy the rest of humanity by radioactive fallout.

Plant to Reopen

SALAMANCA (AP)—The Fancher Furniture Co. announced Tuesday it would reopen its cabinet plant tomorrow and recall about 100 employees over the next three weeks. The plant had been closed since March 14.

On an average day, some 100,000,000 people (12 years old and over) read a daily newspaper.

Central Omits 2nd
Quarterly Dividend

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of the New York Central Railroad Tuesday omitted the quarterly common stock dividend for the second quarter in a row. The road last paid a dividend, in second preferred stock of the Reading Co., Dec. 20, 1957.

Directors said, "operating results caused by generally depressed business thus far this year would not justify favorable dividend action at this time."

State Farmers
Back President's Veto: Wickham

HECTOR (AP)—Most New York farmers approve President Eisenhower's veto of the farm price support bill, says Don Wickham, head of the State Farm Bureau. "I don't see how the President could have done otherwise after his previous statements on the problems of agriculture," Wickham said last night.

"Certainly," he added, "the veto was in line with the opinions expressed by the New York State Farm Bureau at the annual meeting last November."

On Monday Eisenhower vetoed a bill which would have frozen farm price supports and acreage allotments at 1957 levels for a 1-year period.

Wickham, reached at his home here, commented: "What bothers all farmers is the cost-price squeeze. Sometimes when a fellow is in a squeeze he doesn't think too clearly but I think most of the state's farmers approve the veto."

Welland Canal Opens

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (AP)—The Welland Canal officially opened for the season Tuesday with only one vessel awaiting passage.

Canal officials said it was in sharp contrast to former years when a half-dozen ships waited at each end of the canal, which links Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

The lone vessel was the upbound Imperial Hamilton.

Cases Held Today In City Court by Judge Aaron Klein

Roy Ray Frady, 24, of Furnace Road, Route 2, Wolcott, N. Y., who was picked up in Bowling Green, Va. March 27 on a first degree, grand larceny charge, waived examination before City Judge Aaron E. Klein last night and was held to await grand jury action.

The charge, police said, arises from the claim of Eugene Morell, also of Wolcott, that $240 was stolen from his room at 440 Washington Avenue.

Frady was arrested at Bowling Green by Detectives Clarence Borphy and Frank Sammons. He was represented in court today by Attorney George Beck, who was assigned by the court.

Harrell Fined $50
Robert H. Harrell, 25, of 53 Van Buren Street, arrested Feb. 16 on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and disorderly conduct, pleaded guilty to the latter charge, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or spend 50 days in jail. He paid the fine. The other charge was dismissed.

A car driven by Harrell, it was alleged, had struck a parked car on lower Broadway. He was arrested by Officer Louis Sapp.

Two Other Cases
Larry Oster, 18, of Ulster Park, who was arrested early Tuesday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, through his attorney, Seymour Werba, pleaded innocent and the case was put over to April 9. It was charged that Oster's car struck a parked car on Crown Street. He was arrested by Officer Floyd Gilbert.

The case of Joseph Douglas Edwards, 27, of 16 Delta Place, who was arrested early March 5 on a reckless driving charge, was today put over to April 10 because of lack of appearance to prosecute.

Judge Klein was critical of the fact that it became necessary to postpone the case because the district attorney's office was not represented. He held that if notice is given in time it will not be necessary to call in jurors and generally prepare for trial. Edwards was arrested by Officer Sheldon O'Rourke at Fair and Main Streets, after the car he was driving allegedly backed into a station wagon and struck parking meters.

Ulster Promotion Group Discusses Available Lamps

A meeting of the Town of Ulster Committee on Industrial and Commercial Promotion was held Tuesday night at the Jay Steel Company office in the town of Ulster.

LaRoy Crosby, assessor of the Town of Ulster, appeared before the committee possible sites in the town which might be available for potential commercial or industrial purposes. He spoke of the location of these sites and said there were numerous points in the town which could be made available. Several parcels of land which are ideal for factory buildings or for industrial purposes were pointed out.

To Contact Owners
The owners of these parcels will be contacted by members of the committee to ascertain if they are available for sale.

Harold Macholdt, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting. Attending the meeting were Joseph Zeeh, Howard Stephens, Richard Hall, Robert Morehouse, Ted Musinkiewicz, president of the Town of Ulster, and Arthur Royal, vice-president.

Many requests have been received by the committee in recent weeks in regard to available property in the town.

In 1920 the town population was 2,622 and according to the census of 1957 the population is 7,189, an increase of 4,567.

The committee plans to compile facts and figures and then incorporate these facts in a booklet which will be available to those who inquire in regard to availability of sites for industry or for commercial purposes.

Effort Is Praised

Since the committee began its survey some time ago it has received numerous letters of congratulation on the effort being made to bring to the attention of industry what the Town of Ulster has to offer. Among the suggestions incorporated in these communications are requests that there be opened a retail hardware store in the town, that a nursing clinic be established and that there be inducements made to secure a resident physician in the town. Other requests have been that there be retail stores for children, women and mens apparel open in the area.

Some of the letters point out that the Town of Ulster is the principal suburban area for Kingston and offers good opportunities for retail business.

After the facts and figures on industrial and commercial sites have been secured and reviewed, the committee will send out letters to any industry or business which may be interested in locating in this area and will also make available these facts and figures in book form.

Heavy Seas Crack Hull of Carrier

NEW YORK—The aircraft carrier Corregidor suffered a crack in her hull in heavy seas in the Atlantic last night. She took in some water but was reported in no immediate danger of sinking.

The carrier was limping today toward the Azores for emergency repairs. Aboard were 20 officers and 150 enlisted men.

The Navy's Military Sea Transportation Service, operator of the vessel, said she was about 420 miles northeast of the Azores and was expected to reach the islands in about two days.

On Way to Florida
Now serving as an aircraft carrier, the Corregidor was en route from Barcelona, Spain, to MSTS headquarters.

MSTS headquarters said the crack, in the forward engine room, was about one-quarter inch wide. The length was not known. "Some water has entered the ship, but the ship is in no immediate danger of sinking and both engines are still in operation," MSTS reported. She was reported making about 9 knots.

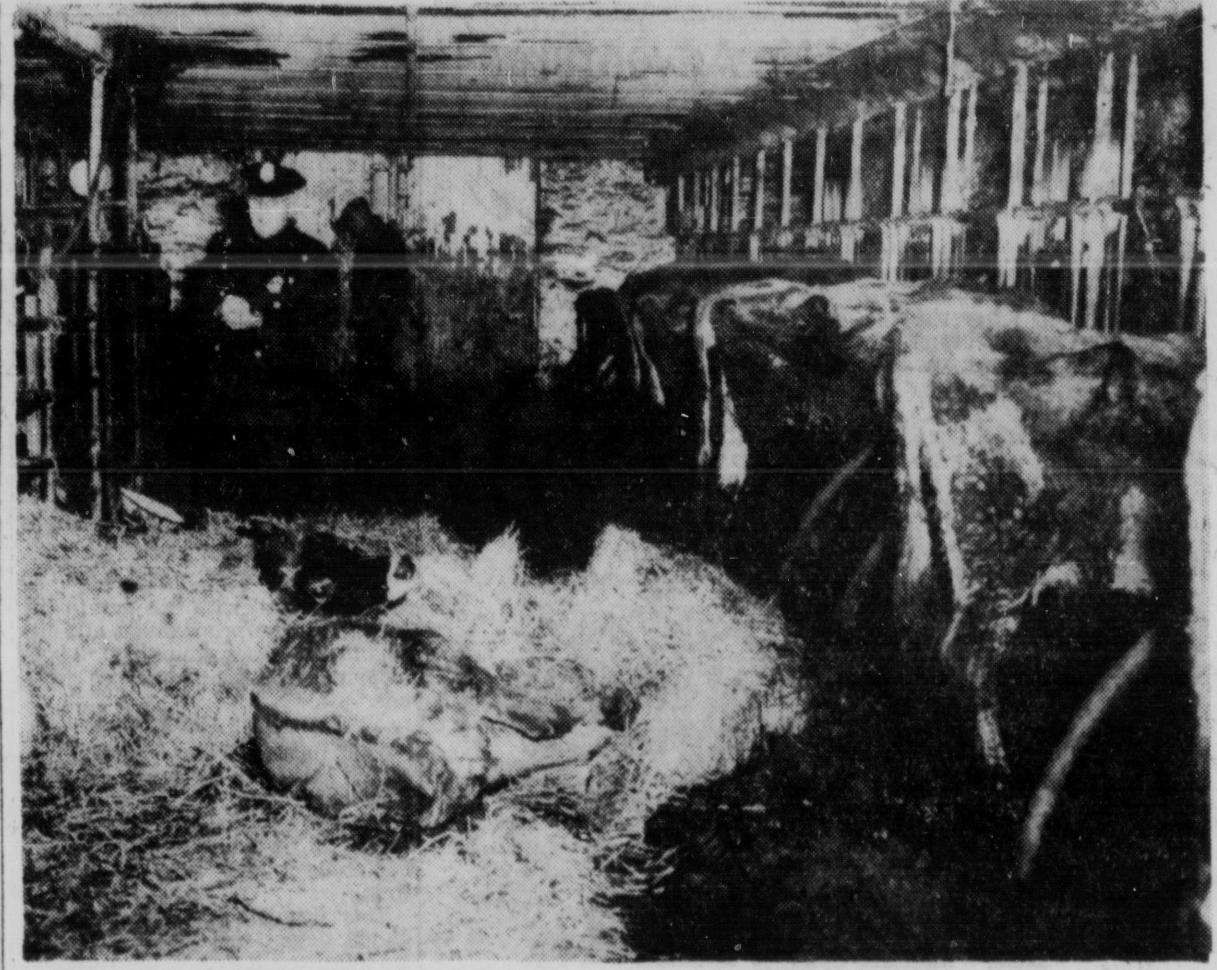

Despite the battering by 16 foot waves, no serious injuries were reported. Seas were expected to moderate this afternoon.

Built in 1943 at Vancouver, Wash., the Corregidor served in the Gilbert Island and Saipan campaigns in World War II.

49 Cows Found

Law. She was brought to the county jail and an examination of her mental condition was to be held today. District Attorney Howard C. St. John said today.

Miss Roberts, owner of the farm, is now residing at Huntington, L. I., with relatives. It was reported she had made provision for taking care of the stock but that Miss Collier, who resided on the premises, had not procured feed or properly taken care of the stock.

Difficulty at the farm began some time ago when the starved condition of the cattle was reported to the New York SPCA by Special Agent Ray Winne, who represents the association in Ulster County.

On April 30, 1957, Miss Collier was arrested on a charge of cruelty to animals and following a trial in justice's court was fined $500 or 90 days in jail.

Conviction Reversed

After three days in jail an appeal from justice's court was taken and Miss Collier was released from jail. The conviction in justice's court was reversed on the law after an appeal to County Court.

On being released from jail Miss Collier returned to Highland and took over at the farm.

The condition of the cattle was again reported to the SPCA and it is reported the association has spent over $600 on feed and care.

Herd Dwindles

Originally the herd numbered approximately 80, but starvation has depleted the herd to half that number. It was reported 14 head of stock had died in the past three weeks from neglect.

Not only were the cattle not cared for, fed or watered, according to the SPCA, but the barn had not been cleaned for weeks. Two men have been engaged in burying cows as they died, and Special Agent Winne reported Miss Collier had informed him that the cattle had died from being poisoned.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John said today he had requested the Ulster County Health Department to send a veterinarian to Highland to ascertain whether they could be saved or would have to be destroyed.

The investigation Tuesday was made by George H. Tischer, agent in the Division of Humane Work of the New York S.P.C.A.; Raymond Mulligan, agent for the S.P.C.A., from New York and Special Agent Ray Winne, assisted by County Identification Officer Earl Conno and County Investigator Arthur H. Brown and Mrs. Mabel O'Reilly, jail matron who brought Miss Collier to the county jail following the arrest.

Provisions were made to care for the cattle pending final determination in the matter.

Indict State Firm

For Aid to Cubans

WASHINGTON—A federal grand jury today indicted Starn Aeronautics Corp. of Rochester, N. Y., and its principal owners on charges of conspiring to obtain arms in this country for the Cuban revolutionary movement.

The indictment directed against Stanley J. Bachman, Jerome H. Bachman, Bernard Sidney Bachman and the corporation, also charged attempted evasion of federal taxes on transfers of firearms and the execution of false documents.

The Justice Department, in announcing the indictment, said the investigation by the local federal grand jury grew out of information obtained by a New York Grand jury which returned an indictment on Feb. 13 against exiled former Cuban President Carlos Prío Socarras and eight associates.

Held on Forgery Count

Bernard Meier, 30, Saugerties, was arrested Tuesday in conjunction with the state bingo law on a charge of forgery, second degree, by state police. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Meier was held in $250 bail for appearance in County Court.

Electric Utilities Are Favored Under Present Conditions

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—A N. Y. State reader asks, "Why have the electric utilities been going up so consistently while most stocks at the best are standing still? Would you advise me to buy American Gas & Electric which has been recommended to me?"

A—The public utilities as a group have turned in a splendid performance since last fall and should continue to do so under present conditions. As of March 27 the Dow-Jones utility average had risen 18 per cent from the Oct. 22 low compared with a gain in the Industrial Average of about 7 per cent during the same period. There are two main reasons why the utilities as a group, and particularly the electric utilities, have acted so well. (1) These stocks have a history of resisting recessions and provide an excellent shelter for funds withdrawn from more speculative media. (2) Utility issues move in inverse ratio to money rates and are frequently referred to as money-rate stocks. The reason for this is that institutions which normally prefer bonds are inclined to favor electric power equities for income when easy money forces bond yields down. Under present economic conditions, it is highly probable that we are in for a fairly long spell of lower money rates and consequently a continued rise in the price level of electric utilities. Regardless of intermediate swings such as the present, I believe that many of these stocks have a growth outlook that warrants long-term purchase at almost any level. In this group I would certainly place American Gas and Electric.

Fast Growth Utilities
American is one of the best utilities for growth. Earnings have doubled since 1949, dividends have much more than doubled and the price of the shares has very nearly tripled. The company serves about 5,000,000 people in the great area including Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Virginia, Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee. The yield is about 3.7 per cent but remember that dividends have been increased in each of the past seven years and another hike this year is a good possibility. I have been putting clients into this stock for many years and expect to continue to do so. Another favorite of mine in the same category is Central and South West Corp. This company serves a rapidly expanding territory in parts of Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana. Earnings and dividends have been increasing rapidly and here too a hike in the annual rate is considered likely this year. This stock yields 3.8 per cent which could be boosted to 4 per cent or over if an expected rise in dividends is voted this year.

Q—S. Wyoming, writes, "I own shares in Woolworth, Union Pacific, Ohio Oil, Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe. What is your opinion of this selection for yield and safe investment?"

A—These stocks at current levels and dividends yield respectively 5.9 per cent, 5.9 per cent, 4.8 per cent and 7.8 per cent. On average, your return on equal amounts of these issues would amount to 6.1 per cent. Woolworth is a good income stock, relatively secure as to dividends but with limited growth prospects. Union Pacific, in my opinion, is the best of the rails and well worth holding and buying at recent depressed prices. I like Union Pacific because it is conservatively capitalized, has very well diversified traffic and substantial non-rail income which helps to stabilize earnings. Discovery of large iron and titanium deposits on the company's land holdings in your state may prove profitable over the next few years. Ohio Oil is one of the few domestic integrated petroleum companies that produces more crude than it refines. Growth over the past few years has been about average but could be more impressive in the future in view of stepped-up exploration in Venezuela and Africa. Dividends are conservative in relation to earnings and should be maintained. Atchafalaya has reduced its dividend rate by paying a 20 cent extra in March in lieu of a 60 cent payment a year earlier. Like Union Pacific, Atchafalaya has substantial non-rail income. I believe that earnings this year will exceed $2 a share and on this basis the present indicated rate of $1.40 annually should be continued. If the extra were cut out altogether, which appears unlikely, the stock would yield 6 1/2 per cent at present levels. For reasonably secure income you would do well to retain your holdings in the foregoing issues. If at any time you feel able to accept a lower income in return for considerably better growth prospects, I would switch Woolworth into Safeway Stores, the second largest grocery chain. From the same viewpoint you might also consider switching your Union Pacific or better yet into Southern Company, a low-priced utility and one of the most favored in its group for continued steady growth.

The contribution is from profits on beverage vending machines at the Kingston plant of International Business Machines Corporation.

Aldermen's . . . Additional Pay

sociation, who named Mayone to head arrangements.

Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, majority leader, William A. Davis (R) 11th Ward, minority leader, and Donald Hastings (D) Third Ward, were named as the committee.

Letters on the handling of fiscal affairs of the local library, including one from Attorney Hugh R. Elwyn, advised of the state audit report, which held, in effect, that all vouchers presented in the future should be audited by the Council. Formerly library expenses were paid upon vouchers presented from time to time by library trustees.

Tax Plan Approved

It was decided, upon approval of Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly that payment in quarterly installments, starting this year on April 15, would be satisfactory. The full amount for the year was listed at $16,000. Kelly's letter noted that the new method was satisfactory to the city treasurer.

The Alderman Sass proposal on annual street cleaning, said: "We of the downtown area are agreeable to any program that your department may set up in regard to fall and spring street cleaning. However, it has been the practice in the past to have both these programs start in the uptown section of our city and worked down. I feel it is only fair to alternate such programs each year. The Downtown Businessmen's Association last year passed a resolution at one of their spring meetings requesting a similar proposition."

Winter Sand Gathers

"It is a known fact," he said, "that the downtown area is one that is composed of numerous hills. Being as such, they require a considerable amount of sanding during the winter months. This obviously leaves our streets in a very dirty and dusty condition in the springtime." A similar request was made last year, he noted, but was probably too late.

A resolution by Alderman Sass, noted that wooden guard rails on Hudson Street near Spruce, were in a "deplorable condition" and since the need of a fence is greater due to increased traffic, he advised that a cable type rail be installed. It was referred to the B.V.

Cites Danger to Children

A resolution by Hirschell Mayes (R) First Ward, asked that the practice of leaving and boarding buses, on the street near the Crown Street terminal be discontinued. It was referred to the traffic committee and Deputy Police Chief Robert F. Murphy.

Mayes said the practice endangered the life and health of children attending School No. 7, and the public in general. Operators, he noted, he facilities for pulling in at the terminal. Street stops, he advised should be ended as soon as possible, and no later than April 14.

Alderman Ryan, chairman of the traffic committee, said the matter had been discussed by his committee, and it was decided to serve notice through the police department. He advised that a copy of the resolution also be forwarded to the deputy police chief.

To Pay $500 Claim

On recommendation of the corporation counsel the aldermen voted to pay a claim of $500 to Louis Perry, of 43 Gill Street, for property damage caused by a defective sewer line. It was noted that the claim has been pending for "some years" and settlement was reached at the March term of Supreme Court subject to Council approval. The amount, it was reported, was a little less than that recommended by the judge, and was substantially what might have been recovered through trial.

Also approved for payment was a claim of $86.35 to Mrs. Clarence Perry, of 3 Grand View Avenue, for damage and expenses resulting of a blocked sewer line.

A bid for a zoning change, submitted by Attorney Joseph Avis in behalf of Patrick and Mary Amendola, and affecting a property at Smith Avenue and Cornell Street, was submitted to the laws and rules committee. It is planned, the application noted, to construct store properties on a lot 65 by 150 feet.

A resolution by Alderman Joseph A. Tomaszewski, (D) Sixth Ward, asked erection of a no-parking sign on the south side of St. Mary's Street, and was referred to the traffic committee. The street was narrow, he noted, and could be dangerous if jammed during a fire in the area.

In the council audience, which about half filled the chamber, was a group of boy scouts from

No Need to Ask Review

The entire operation will be carried out automatically. It will not be necessary for claimants to ask for review of their claims. "This is a big job," he said. "It is going to take time. We are going to have to handle it in addition to the very heavy volume of current benefit claims. I appeal to the public not to slow the operation by asking questions at the present time."

Hart made it clear that no rate adjustments are in prospect for:

Average About $40

The average retroactive payment is expected to be about $40, but that individual lump-sum checks will vary in amount from 25 cents to $234, depending on the number and amount of payments the individual has received. A 25-cent payment would represent back-payment for a claimant whose rate was increased from $36 to $37 a week who had received payment for partial unemployment in one previous week. A $234 lump-sum check would represent increase to a $45 weekly rate for a claimant who had received $36 for 26 weeks and had exhausted his benefit rights.

The old schedule of benefit rates—from $10 to $36—will be unchanged for persons whose average wage was less than $73. The new schedule of higher top rates will work out as follows:

Average Weekly Wage Ben. Rt.

been approached by a road oil company representative and offered a "kickback" if he would place village business with that firm. This charge was investigated by the grand jury after Thayer said he had ordered the representative from his office. At the time it was stated the offer had come from a company outside Ulster County.

Later in the Reuter investigation into irregularities in the Kingston Police Department and among county officials, charges of kickbacks to officials in 10 eastern counties, including Ulster County, were made.

Indictments Made

Last January a grand jury investigation was begun by District Attorney St. John and has resulted in indictments being returned against town officials. These indictments are now pending in County Court.

While the January grand jury was still investigating the charges of kickbacks, Governor Harriman requested a special assistant attorney general be named to look into charges made by the Reuter commission that there was widespread kickback racket that extended into 10 eastern counties. Senator Tompkins was named March 24 to take over the investigation in Ulster County.

The aldermen voted to amend a traffic ordinance to limit parking to 15 minutes on Washington Avenue from Lucas for 61 feet north in the vicinity of the Teetsel store.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircrafts and some steels improved as the stock market continued irregular this afternoon. Trading was moderate. Gains and losses of fractions to around a point were the rule for key stocks.

The market's uneven tone was established at the opening. There was a tendency to settle backward for a while but prices firmed shortly after President Eisenhower's news conference.

The aircrafts went to the upside following President Eisenhower's request to Congress for an extra $1,455,747,000 in defense appropriations.

Leading oils were steady to slightly higher. Building materials were firm.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at $161.50 with the industrials unchanged, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities up 20 cents.

American Stock Exchange prices were generally higher in moderate trading.

Green Suggests U.S., Nasser Try To Get Along

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Green (D-R.I.) challenged the administration today to "correct some of its past mistakes" in the Middle East by "trying to get along" with Egypt's President Nasser.

At the same time, Green suggested the United States be prepared to provide aid to Nasser's new United Arab Republic to replace assistance Nasser gets from Soviet Russia.

Could Supply Electricity for Billion Years Mastery of Hydrogen Fusion Plan Will Mean Vast Power From Ocean

(Editor's Note—Long feared by man as a destroyer of ships, the sea at the dawn of the nuclear age promises to repay for past depredations. The third of five articles on the ocean frontier tells about this promise of the not-too-distant future—vast power for humanity's ever-ships.)

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
New Bedford Standard Times

Written for The Associated Press

Three fourths of the earth's surface is ocean, and a large proportion of ocean is hydrogen.

Add the technology of the hydrogen bomb, and the formula spells an incalculable boon for mankind—cheap, virtually inexhaustible power.

Once this particular application of hydrogen fusion is mastered—and some authorities predict it within 15 years—the oceans could provide enough cheap electricity to supply the world for a billion years.

Lakes, Rivers Included

Even the rivers and lakes of inland nations could be transformed into power producers by harnessing hydrogen fusion—thus spreading the benefits to every country on the globe.

To Americans caught in the cold war, however, the most important aspect of the international race for cheap power is that the United States presently is not leading the field.

There is considerable evidence to indicate that diplomatic courtesy rather than scientific justice brought about the joint U. S.-British announcement on hydrogen fusion. Non-government authorities in both countries have indicated the British scored a clear first in the controlled release of the H-bomb type of energy for eventual peaceful application.

Others Could Be Ahead

It may be that other nations also are ahead of America in this field. Both the French and the Russians are known to be working on it.

Here's what the British success amounts to:

The process involves the fusing of four nuclei of hydrogen into one nucleus of helium. This is the process responsible in nature for the enormous amounts of energy in the sun, which derives its name from the fact that it is twice the weight of normal hydrogen—“heavy” hydrogen.

Key Problem

The key problems arise in attempting to fuse nuclei of deuterium to generate electricity in quantity. A very high temperature is required, and some type of special “container” is needed to hold the gas after it has been raised to the temperature called for.

It has been estimated that temperatures of 370 million degrees centigrade would be required to establish a “fire” of deuterium that would be self-sustaining and give off more energy than was required to keep it going. This is more than 20 times the temperature of the sun's interior.

Report on Tests

American experiments reportedly have reached temperatures as high as 6 million degrees. Sir John Cockcroft, Nobel prize-winning director of the British atomic research establishment, has said Britain's efforts soon would surpass the sun's core temperature, which he estimated at 15 million degrees.

The main problem, of course, is to find a suitable “container” for these tremendous temperatures. But it seems only a matter of time until vast energy from the seas will power humanity's work-shops.

One-Half of Trade

The Port of New York handles nearly one-half of the waterborne foreign trade of this country as measured by dollar value.

Gets Burglary Term, Officer Awaits Trial

LAKE GEORGE — Roy M. Hamlin, a former gambler, was sentenced Tuesday to serve 10 to 20 years in prison for third-degree burglary.

Hamlin, 50, of Glens Falls, also was sentenced by Judge Alexander P. Robertson of Warren County Court to serve 5 to 10 years for second-degree grand larceny. The terms, however, are to be served concurrently.

A jury convicted Hamlin last month of taking $300 from the Durkee Motor Co., just outside Glens Falls, last Oct. 19. His alleged accomplice, Andrew G. Matochik, 48-year-old former policeman, is in Glens Falls Hospital awaiting trial. He collapsed during Hamlin's trial.

Hamlin was indicted on a gambling charge in 1951 and disappeared for four years. He was convicted in 1955 and paid a $500 fine.

Jurors to Meet On Monday Night

An important meeting of the nominating committee will precede the regular meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County Monday night, April 7, at the Court House, Wall Street.

The nominating committee will assemble at 7:30 p. m. with the regular business session scheduled for 8 p. m.

President Thomas J. Murphy, in requesting a large attendance of members, said that several new applications for membership will be voted upon and that other important subjects will be brought up for discussion.

The completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway, expected in 1959, will open a new coastline for ocean commerce along the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes.

• BRIDGE How to Forsee Elimination Play

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A Beaumont reader wants to know how to recognize an elimination play. There is a potential elimination play any time you can throw the defense in the lead while you retain trumps in both your hand and dummy.

Here is a good example. Dummy won the opening diamond lead and South took the ace and king of trumps to find that East held a sure trump trick. South also noted that he had an apparent diamond loser which could be eliminated if he could throw East in and force him to give South a ruff and discard.

South played three rounds of clubs, trumping the third lead in his own hand, and then took all three spade tricks. Now South cashed dummy's remaining high diamond and threw East in with his queen of trumps.

East was down to one club and one spade and it did not matter

This elimination play was pretty lucky. It worked because East only held two diamonds, but beggars can't be choosers and there was no other way to make the slam.

Services Set For Holy Week

Fair Street Reformed

A Maundy Thursday observance of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor, will conduct the service and meditation. The office for the reception of members will be read at this service.

The historic early Christian Office of Tenebrae, The Service of Shadows, will be used in which the third century Didache and Coptic rite liturgies are said. In this service the church is left in darkness as the last candle symbolizing a deserted Jesus is carried from the sanctuary.

The elders in the parish who will read the Shadows of the Disciples at this year's service will be: Stanley E. Hankinson, William E. Rylance, N. LeVan Haver, Leonard Flicker, Hubert Hoderath, P. Boyd Miller and John G. Garon.

The senior choir under the direction of Percy W. Gazlay II will sing, "O Saviour of the World" by Matthews; "Kyrie," Adoramus Te by Clokey; "Crucifixus," Adoramus Te by Clokey; "Agnus Dei," Adoramus Te by Clokey; "Passus," Adoramus Te by Clokey; the solo, "O, Was There Ever Loneliness Like His" by Maunder will be sung by Richard Baker. Mrs. William S. Eltinge, church organist, will play for the organ prelude "Chorale" by Bach, and postlude, "Come, Sweet Death" by Bach.

A provision for the care of small children of parents attending this Maundy Thursday service has been made in the Nursery school.

Immanuel Lutheran

A regular Maundy Thursday service will be held at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston Street, the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated at this service. The confessional service will begin 7:30 p. m. and the regular service will start 7:45 p. m. The Rev. Martin Dienst, pastor will deliver the sermon on the theme "Let A Man Examine Himself." The members of the confirmation class who were confirmed on Palm Sunday and received into Communicant membership on that date will receive their first Communion during this service. "O Sacred Head Now Wounded" will be sung by the senior choir under the direction of Fay R. Richert, director of the choir and organist of the church.

Good Friday Services

A special service will be held Good Friday 1 p. m. in the English language. The Rev. Mr. Dienst will preach on the theme "He Died for All." Church organist, Fay Richert, will present music appropriate to the season.

A service in the German language will be held Good Friday with celebration of Holy Communion 7:15 p. m. The confessional service will begin 7:15 p. m. The Rev. Mr. Dienst will speak on, "Preparation for Holy Communion."

The public is cordially invited to attend these services as well as all other services of this church.

St. Philomena

Holy Week schedule for St. Philomena's Church is as follows: Today confessions 4 to 6 and 7:30 to 9 o'clock. Holy Thursday low Mass 7 a. m. High Mass and procession 8 p. m. Repository open all night. Good Friday repository open all day. Liturgy of the Passion and Communion service 8 p. m. Holy Saturday confessions 4 to 6 and 7:30 to 9 p. m. Easter vigil service 11:30 p. m. High Mass at midnight. Easter Sunday Masses as usual 8, 9, 10, 11 a. m. (high Mass).

Clinton Avenue

A communion service will be held at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, 122 Clinton Avenue, Maundy Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The meditation will be given by the Rev. Dr. Clyde Herbert Snell, minister of the church, and is entitled, "Shadow on a Supper." Special communion numbers will be sung by the chancel choir during the sacrament. The pastor's confirmation class will be received into membership during the service. The public is cordially invited.

Why We Say--

"AN OLD CHESTNUT"

ENGLISH PAINTER: When someone tells an old story, we call it "an old chestnut." The expression got started with the English painter Edward Abbey who would be called upon to speak in public, but no matter what story he would begin, he always ended up with one about a farmer and chestnuts.

Burned Out Hulk Of Ship Still Afloat

LONDON (U)—The burned out hulk of the Norwegian immigrant ship Skaubryn today was reported still afloat in the Indian Ocean off Africa.

The Skaubryn's 1,200 passengers and crew, including 209 children, are being taken to the British Red Sea port of Aden aboard the Italian liner Roma. They are due there tomorrow.

The 9,786-ton ship, en route to Australia with more than 1,000 migrants, was gutted Monday night after an engine room explosion. Survivors were picked up by the British freighter City of Sydney, which transferred them to the Roma. There was only one casualty, a German passenger who died of a heart attack.

A message from Aden said the Skaubryn was still afloat but completely gutted, with no one aboard. A British warship had been dispatched to determine whether the hulk can be salvaged or should be sunk as a menace to navigation.

Rescues Put Off Meeting Till 9th

Due to Holy Week, the regular monthly meeting of Rescue Hook and Ladder Company has been postponed from Thursday, April 3, until Wednesday, April 9.

John Worf, foreman, announced the meeting change and urged a large attendance of members at the meeting on April 9.

Tax Official Is Trapped, Accused Of Taking Bribe

NEW YORK (U)—A technical adviser in the Internal Revenue Service is accused of soliciting and accepting a $3,000 bribe from a Johnstown, N. Y. manufacturer whose tax liabilities he was investigating.

Jules Alcon Robbins, 42, of Forest Hills, Queens, was placed under $5,000 bail for a court hearing April 15.

FIB agents arrested Robbins yesterday outside a downtown Manhattan restaurant after he allegedly accepted the $3,000 from Jules Garfall, a leather jackets manufacturer, inside the restaurant.

Meeting Arranged

The meeting of the two men had been arranged, and the bills were marked, authorities said. They had been notified of the alleged bribe solicitation.

Robbins, a tax accountant and auditor as well as technical adviser for the Internal Revenue Service, was accused of taking the money to influence his decision in a tax case involving Garfall.

Bail for Robbins was set by U. S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams told the commissioner that Robbins had been investigating the tax liabilities of Garfall; his wife, Mary, a sister, Theresa, and the estate of Garfall's father, Joseph, for the years 1946 through 1949. The original tax assessment involved was $68,000.

Last January, Robbins approached an attorney representing Garfall and asked for $3,000 and then on March 18 Robbins asked Garfall himself for the same amount, Williams said. Authorities were notified, and plans were made for a trap.

Faces Prison, Fine

Robbins had $800 in addition to the $3,000 when arrested.

If convicted, Robbins could be imprisoned up to three years and fined $9,000 — three times the amount of the alleged bribe.

Robbins, employed by the Internal Revenue Service since 1946, had a salary of $9,400 a year. He has a wife and two small children.

Don't discard the liquid from canned peas; it is high in food value and a flavor-help in sauces, gravies or soups.

Democrats Would Hold Bingo Games To Meet Expenses

WHITEHALL (U)—Can a political group legally run bingo games in New York State to raise campaign expenses?

The Democratic village committee of this northeastern New York community thinks it can, by qualifying under the new bingo law as a non-profit organization.

Committee Chairman Joseph Scott declared last night that "we don't make any money in election campaigns. Sometimes committee-men have to kick in out of their own pockets to make ends meet."

The committee last week asked the village board to grant it a license, but the board was waiting for legal advice before taking action.

A spokesman for the State Lottery Control Commission, which was formed to control bingo, said in Albany that his group had not promulgated its rules and that he could not say whether a political committee would be eligible.

Under the new law, only bona-fide religious, charitable or non-profit organizations may run bingo games, which must first be approved in a local referendum.

Whitehall voters approved bingo March 18.

Blossoms Still Tardy

WASHINGTON (U)—Washington's famed cherry blossoms, which didn't make it in time for last week's Cherry Blossom Festival, won't be around for Easter either. Capital Park horticulturists say full blooms aren't expected for at least 10 more days.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

No matter what your folks told you, the ostrich in its lifetime delivers more babies than the stork.

If you suspect most business executives are illiterate, you could be wrong. . . a Harvard survey found the most successful executives were the greatest readers . . . of non-fiction books.

Nearly 20 million people in the United States are named either John or Mary . . . sorry, I don't have the figures on Tom, Dick and Harry.

More Insurance

There are more life insurance policies in effect in this country (over 239 million) than there are people (173 million).

New York city has 683,000 manholes . . . and in its 5,000 miles of sewers you can find everything from a lost glass eye to flourishing alligators.

If you coat your bread with the average amount of butter you will consume nine pounds of this dairy product in 1958.

A toad can live at an altitude of 15,000 feet.

In most lands the average citizen knows only one tenth the words in his language . . . by the way, did you know the Chinese word for mother is "ma"?

What About Gorilla?

Those who say vegetarians (such as the late George Bernard Shaw) are weaklings overlook the fact that the gorilla doesn't eat meat.

Christians aren't the only ones who claim guardian angels . . . the natives of Easter Island also believe in the supernatural power of an "Aku-Aku," or private spiritual guardian.

A reader informs me the portrait on a $100,000 Treasury note is of Woodrow Wilson.

The United States now produces two fifths of the world's lumber and nearly half its paper . . . and man-caused forest fires dropped to 3,274 last year, the lowest figure since 1933.

Test for Wife

Here's a way to test how smart your wife is . . . ask her how many of the 65 cuts of beef she can name . . . most housewives can name fewer than 15.

If you have a handicap that bothers you, consider Melvin Joseph Maas, a retired Marine major general and former congressman, who travels 175,000 miles and makes between 300 and 500 speeches a year . . . although he's totally blind.

It was O. Henry who observed, "there are two times when you can never tell what is going to happen. One is when a man takes his first drink; and the other is when a woman takes her latest."

Textured Paint Helpful

There are special paints for brick, concrete block and other masonry materials but they must be properly used for best results. The undercoat is important. It must remain unaffected by lime—which is present in concrete, stucco and mortar—and it must have covering power. Use either a cement-water paint or oil paint for the undercoat.

The 226,000 acres of orchards and vineyards in New York State rank fourth in the Nation.

AMERICAN MENU

Fresh Chocolates Adorn Surprise Easter Desserts

A REAL treat at the end of Lent is this pear and ice cream dessert garnished with fresh chocolates. The bed is coconut.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

For those who abstained from candy during Lent, these two special Easter desserts will be a happy surprise. Each uses freshly packed candy as an elegant ingredient.

Candy Pear Dessert

(Makes about 4 servings)

One 1-pound, 13-ounce can pear halves, 1 tablespoon creme de menthe or 2 tablespoons melted mint jelly, ¾ cup firmly-packed brown sugar, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cups flaked coconut, toasted; 9 assorted freshly-boxed chocolates, 1 pint vanilla ice cream.

Drain pears; reserve syrup. Combine 1 cup syrup and creme de menthe or melted mint jelly. Add pears and chill 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Combine sugar and remaining syrup and heat until sugar is dissolved. Add nutmeg. Drain pears and arrange on bed of coconut. Fill pear centers with chocolates. Serve with ice cream and pear sauce.

Candy Peach Delight

(Makes 4-6 servings)

One 1-pound, 4-ounce can chilled and drained peach halves, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped; assorted freshly-boxed chocolates. Fill centers of peach halves with whipped cream. Top with chocolates.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Chopped beef patties, whipped potatoes, canned lima beans, enriched bread, butter or margarine, celery and carrot sticks, candy pear dessert, coffee, tea, milk.

Moonlight Mahogany

Some of the Central and South American Indians have a superstition that mahogany trees should be cut only by the light of the moon. This is supposed to make the wood sounder, freer of sap and of a richer color. The National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. says this belief is just a lot of moonshine moonbeams.

Butter Up

When making molded butter or margarine, let butter stand at room temperature until it reaches molding consistency; roll between wooden butter paddle and make balls; chill by dropping balls into iced water. To prevent sticking soak the wooden paddles in ice water before using.

In 1955, New York State was first in producing onions, cabbage for kraut and buckwheat.

Rosendale

ROSENDALE — The Woman's Christian Guild of the Rosendale Reformed Church will sponsor a rummage sale Saturday, April 26, starting at 10 a. m. The sale will take place at the vacant store next to the new bridge on upper Main Street.

Donations of clean clothes and household articles will be appreciated. Those desiring to make donations are asked to contact Mrs. Herbert Kimpker.

The final Lenten food and cake sale sponsored by the Guild will be held at the Rosendale Reformed Church Thursday, 10 a. m.

Safe Distance

HOBART, Okla., (AP)—Does eating onions really keep a cold from becoming severe? Clara Neal wondered, asked two doctors. They replied it is helpful only by keeping people at a safe distance from the person who eats onions as a cure.

"It could only happen once every 50 years"

"We were celebrating Mother and Dad's Golden Wedding Anniversary, and the house was buzzing with the happy talk of close friends and family. Naturally, I was pleased with the party's success. But I couldn't help feeling sorry that my sister, who lives in California, wasn't with us. Just then, the phone rang. Yes, it was my sister, and her call certainly made our parents' day complete. It could only happen once every 50 years and, of course, it couldn't happen at all without the telephone."

Niagara Power Will Take Over Cazenovia

ALBANY (AP)—The Public Service Commission today authorized the Niagara Power Corp. to take over the Cazenovia Electric Co.

The 53-year-old Cazenovia utility, which serves 2,200 customers in Madison County, will become part of the Niagara Mohawk network.

In the merger, the 18 owners of Cazenovia's 3,312 shares of stock will receive a total of 9,936 shares of Niagara Mohawk stock. The PSC said the transaction would be completed within 10 days. The Cazenovia utility has purchased practically all its power from Niagara Mohawk.

PSC Examiner William T. Wilkinson said in his report on the application for the merger that the integration would result in an annual rate reduction of $78,712, or about 27 per cent, in rates paid by present Cazenovia customers.

KERHONKSON NEWS

KERHONKSON — Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and children, Charlene and Kenneth, at Hyde Park.

Approximately 40 members of the Federated Church attended the cantata at the Ellenville Reformed Church Sunday night. It was under the direction of Mrs. Milfred Misner. Mrs. Misner is a former organist and choir director of the local church.

The Fellowship Couples Club of the Federated Church held its regular meeting Wednesday, March 26, with Mrs. Cathy DeBus presiding. A box luncheon social was the highlight of the evening. Beverages were served by Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke Churchell. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Friedman, Mr. and Mrs. James Pengelly, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Bilyeu, Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke Churchell, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Conklin, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Babish, Mrs. DeBus and brother, Ernest.

Harold Kerhons, former resident of Kerhons, and a graduate of Kerhons, Class of '39, was named to the Planning Board in Poughkeepsie, for a five year term effective immediately. Members of the Democratic majority of the Town of Poughkeepsie praised C. Donnelly Northup, as he completed his five year term, but did not reappoint him. Councilman Vrooman of Poughkeepsie said that politics played no part in this appointment, but rather as a resident of Ireland Estates, a suburb of Poughkeepsie, Mr. Burgher, who heads a civic group from his community seemed the most likely candidate for the position, particularly in view of his activities that are spearheaded toward the betterment of all phases of city government. Mr. Burgher resides in Ireland Estates with his wife and a daughter. He is employed at the IBM in Poughkeepsie, where he has worked for the past decade. Mr. Burgher is the son of Mrs. Neil Olsen of this village, and the late David Burgher.

A card party will be held Sunday, April 13, at the Kerhons Jewish Community Center.

Mrs. Charles Burger is a patient at Kingston Hospital where she underwent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Krom and daughter, Corrine, entertained 33 classmates in honor of her daughter, Myrna's 16th birthday. The party was held at the Fire Hall. Dancing was enjoyed with refreshments, including an attractively decorated cake. Myrna received many gifts.

Members of the Child Understanding Club contributed refreshments Thursday night when they were hostesses to the Modern Mothers of Kingston at the home of Mrs. Henry Feinberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Feinberg visited their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Feinberg in Massachusetts during the week-end.

Elizabeth Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Joyce, who attends Barry College in Miami, is spending the Easter holidays with Miss Margaret Donnelly at West Palm Beach.

The Rochester Democratic Women's Organization will hold a food sale Saturday, April 5, at Ed Carles, starting at 10 a. m.

The Rochester Democratic Women's Club will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Accord Fire Hall Monday, April 7, at 8 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Sahler of Tuxedo Park were 33 guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck Decker.

Kenneth Boice and a friend of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Smith Jr. Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burch of Sundown visited Mrs. Maude Carille and family Sunday.

Miss Kathleen Joyce, who attends Immaculate Junior College at Washington, D. C., is spending the holidays here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Joyce.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Groesch attended the wedding of her cousin in Accord on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Myers and Jacob Green of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terwilliger of this village, and Mrs. Russell Trowbridge of Kyserike were Sunday guests of Mrs. Irving Colville.

Father Cunningham and some of the men of the Kerhons Mission of St. Mary's and St. Andrew's Catholic Church were at the Chancery Office in New York City Tuesday concerning the building program. The fill job at the site of the new church nears completion and now the project of building is at hand.

Edwin Smith of Rome spent the weekend here with his wife and family.

Mrs. Jennie Burger is assisting in the Feldshuh home while Dr. and Mrs. Feldshuh are on vacation.

Miss Jodee Gazlay of West Orange, N. J., is spending her spring vacation with her cousin, Susan Lawrence.

Mrs. Rosalie Perrine of Orange, N. J., spent the weekend with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Myers.

Mrs. Tuthill McDowell, Mrs. Albert Myers, Rosalie Perrine and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davis attended open house at Valley Gardens and enjoyed the display of Easter lilies and other spring flowers Palm Sunday.

Mrs. Inez Freer is in Dunellen, N. J., visiting friends for several weeks.

Mrs. Abe Van Etten of Accord spent last weekend visiting Mrs. Daisy Mackey and daughter, Mabel, in Kerhons.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Black spent the weekend in Danbury, Conn., with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Berge are spending a week at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Riegel have left for a week in Florida. High school seniors will take a trip to Washington, D. C. during Easter week.

Mrs. Helen Shapiro spent a few days in New York City with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osterhoudt and Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bonesteel.

At the 11 a. m. Palm Sunday service the following were baptized: Nancy Jean Brooks, Thomas Jay Green, Ernest J. Barringer, Steven William Stone, Donald Milton Lane, Richard Ballard, Warren Terwilliger,

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feinberg, Friday evening.

Holy Communion will be observed in the Federated Church Thursday at 8 p. m.

Friday at 8 p. m. a colored film, "The Crucifixion," will be shown. All are welcome.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Kerhons Fire Company will hold a card party April 10.

The P-TA meeting for this month will be held April 16.

Mrs. Michael Gruber died Saturday at Kingston Hospital.

Thursday, April 3, the Kerhons Fire Company will hold a special meeting to elect a chief and assistants.

Buffalo Council Supports Bingo, Asks Nov. 4 Vote

BUFFALO (AP)—Buffalo's Common Council has taken action that may lead to a court test of its plans to hold a bingo referendum in the fall general election.

Yesterday, the council unanimously passed an ordinance legalizing the game and then ordered the board of elections to put it on the Nov. 4 ballot for the necessary public vote.

The board is expected to refuse. It has said it would abide by a ruling from Erie County Atty. Elmer Weil that referendums held in connection with general elections are illegal in cities.

But State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz has ruled that there is no constitutional bar to such a referendum.

The council is seeking a court ruling on the two positions.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—After two years of sitting around doing practically nothing at NBC-TV, Fred Coe, one of the ablest creative talents in television, is at work as a producer for CBS-TV.

As the original producer of NBC's famous and extinct "Television Playhouse," Coe helped to develop some of the medium's finest writers and performers. He produced "Marty" and headed the TV staff that gave the nation Mary Martin in "Peter Pan." He was executive producer of "Mr. Peepers" and "Producers' Showcase."

Puts Year to Use

For reasons altogether strange, NBC-TV found nothing for him to do this season except to serve as production executive of "Annie Get Your Gun." Coe has put the past year to good use, however. He produced his first movie, "The Left-Handed Gun," for Warner Brothers. And he produced his second Broadway show, the hit "Two For The Seesaw," starring Henry Fonda and Anne Bancroft. Back in television once more, Coe's first assignment at CBS-TV will be to produce "The Red Mill" for "Show of the Month" from Hollywood on April 19. Beginning in the fall he will produce several "Playhouse 90" dramas.

Discussing the Victor Herbert operetta before he left Hollywood, Coe, a tallish man of 43 with crew-cut hair, said:

"We're trying to assume how 'The Red Mill,' written in 1908, would be done today if it were a new show. Our ear for music has changed just as has our ear for words. Today Herbert's music sounds lush and overly romantic."

Basically Excellent

"But it's basically excellent mu-

Keating Aiming Blasts at Ave, May Eye Albany

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The name of Rochester's Rep. Kenneth B. Keating is mentioned increasingly here as a potential candidate for the New York Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Keating will not talk for publication, but like other gubernatorial hopefuls, he has aimed recent political fire at Gov. Harriman. The Democratic governor is certain to run for re-election.

Although Keating chooses not to declare gubernatorial ambitions he said he cannot dictate what his friends and other Washington politicians say about him. It seems pertinent, however, that Keating hasn't said "no" to the speculation. He thus encourages the talk.

No Overtures, He Says

He has said that he has received no overtures from leaders about the governorship "in any way, shape or form." Since there are at least four other undeclared candidates for the nomination political observers think there is little chance of a GOP draft. The man who wins the designation presumably will have to fight for it.

Meanwhile, Keating has started sniping at Harriman, an action to be expected of any Republican interested in the governorship.

Blasts Harriman

During February he addressed a Republican group in Ithaca that shaped up as a purely political blast at the governor. And, only this week, in a Washington statement he again took after Harriman.

Another aspect of next fall's campaign that is becoming more and more intriguing is whether Sen. Irving M. Ives, Norwich Republican, will seek reelection to a third six-year term.

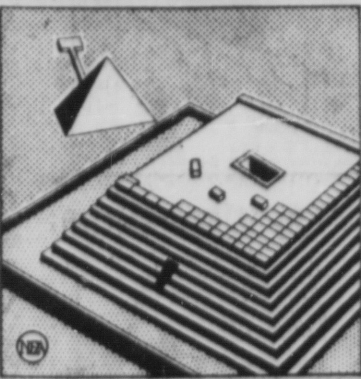

Ives' reluctance to say one way or another has many guessing he won't make the race. There's really no way to pin down such a hunch, but many politically sharp persons say that's how they feel.

The condition of Ives' health probably will be the determining factor in his decision. At last reports he was responding well to treatment for an ankle affliction that has plagued him for months.

Tillson

TILLSON—Thirty-one members of Troop 17, Boy Scouts, attended an overnight hike last weekend under the direction of Scoutmaster Ray Boyle, BMI, USN. The boys camped off the Springtown Road toward New Paltz.

Matter of FACT

The Great Pyramid, near Giza Egypt, was built about 2,000 B.C. by King Cheops (Khufu). His son, Chephren (Khafra) built the Second Pyramid, only a little smaller than his father's. In measuring out the base of the Great Pyramid, the king's engineers made less than 1 inch error in 756 feet per side. The next king, Menkaura (Mycerinus), built the Third Pyramid.

© Britannica, Jr. Encyclopedia

sic with a distinct flavor. It merely needs an arrangement to make it completely modern.

"We're treating the story in the same way, changing it not because it's a bad story but to make it credible to modern tastes. We aren't doing either a period piece or a farcical comedy.

"The way we have chosen is to take the spirit and basic situation of the town that needs its legendary mill as a source of income from tourists—and develop how it's thwarted and how it's saved. We do it in a different way than the original, using the Brussels World's Fair nearby.

"The old story had a stark love story with stock characters. We've added a character—a guy with problems. I suppose you might say we're telling the same story by means of character development rather than situation."

The old guard of Victor Herbert fanatics, who object to change, may be pleasantly surprised. Coe refuses to be drawn into one of those empty arguments over the merits of a Hollywood vs. a New York TV production.

"I am always referring to my old Aunt Mollie in Mississippi on that score," he said. "Aunt Mollie doesn't care whether a TV show comes from Hollywood or New York or Kansas City as long as she likes it. Personally I like New York because this is my home and I have a son in school here. But I'm perfectly willing to go to Hollywood to work on a show. On the other hand, I don't see why some Hollywood actors can't occasionally come to New York to do a show here."

"If the industry arbitrarily says that shows must originate in Hollywood, then I can say why not half from Hollywood and half from New York? I'd like to see more dramas coming from New York again."

Will Reopen Easter

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The small Roman Catholic Mission of St. Cecilia's at nearby Jesuit Bend, scene of a racially-tinted riot more than two years ago, will reopen Sunday for Easter services. A white priest will say mass.

Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel said in a letter yesterday: "We cannot permit the closed chapel to stand forever as a symbol of resistance to the authority of the church."

The mission was closed and services curtailed at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church after the objections of some parishioners to the Rev. Gerald Lewis, a Negro priest of St. Augustine Seminary at Bay St. Louis, Miss. He was assigned there Oct. 2, 1955.

The archbishop said at the time the mission would be reopened only when parishioners agreed to accept the priest sent to help the regular pastor.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Received a nice note from Vivian (Holliday) Stadt of Port Ewen and a newspaper clipping. She writes in part: This clipping was just handed me from a friend who received it from her sister in Florida, thought perhaps you'd like it.

I think we have a 'gimmick' that does make Kingston famous across the nation and it is the copies of the Ulster County Gazette dated Saturday, Jan. 4, 1900 which are found, it seems daily, especially in the south. They make headlines and feature stories whenever they are shown in these various newspaper offices. I think it is time Kingston reprinted it on its own, it seems, everybody else has who has a printing press. The item Vivian sent me reads in part: "The newspaper, Ulster County Gazette, published at Kingston, N. Y., by Samuel Freer and Son, is dated Saturday, Jan. 4, 1900. It is sealed in glass, the publication, yellowed with age, described the death of George Washington, etc." I think my readers know the rest, but each newspaper adds something on how that particular copy was found or something about the print.

This item from Lake Worth, Fla., and the Palm Beach Post-Times newspaper states in part: "A Colorado man reported to the newspaper he had the two oldest newspaper copies in his home state so Mrs. Florence Shamo, of 120 N. Palmway brought out her Ulster County Gazette. She said the paper had 'been handed down' to her late husband, William Shamo, by his mother, and has been in the family for generations." As a rule I put all these items in one large envelope and I have quite a collection on our famous Gazette and where it pops up.

Vivian wrote me just before the last snow and blow and said in part: "Hasn't this been some winter. Have you been to Castle Point lately?" She has not been down for several years. She writes that her group now visits the Albany Veterans Hospital. I remember we had a nice group of girls who used to go down from Port Ewen to Castle Point all through the war. They brought home-made cookies and many other gifts and entertainment. Kingston and Ulster County went all out for Castle Point Veterans throughout the war years. The various organizations, and especially the factories and other business firms arranged shows, with many gifts and went several times a year in bus loads.

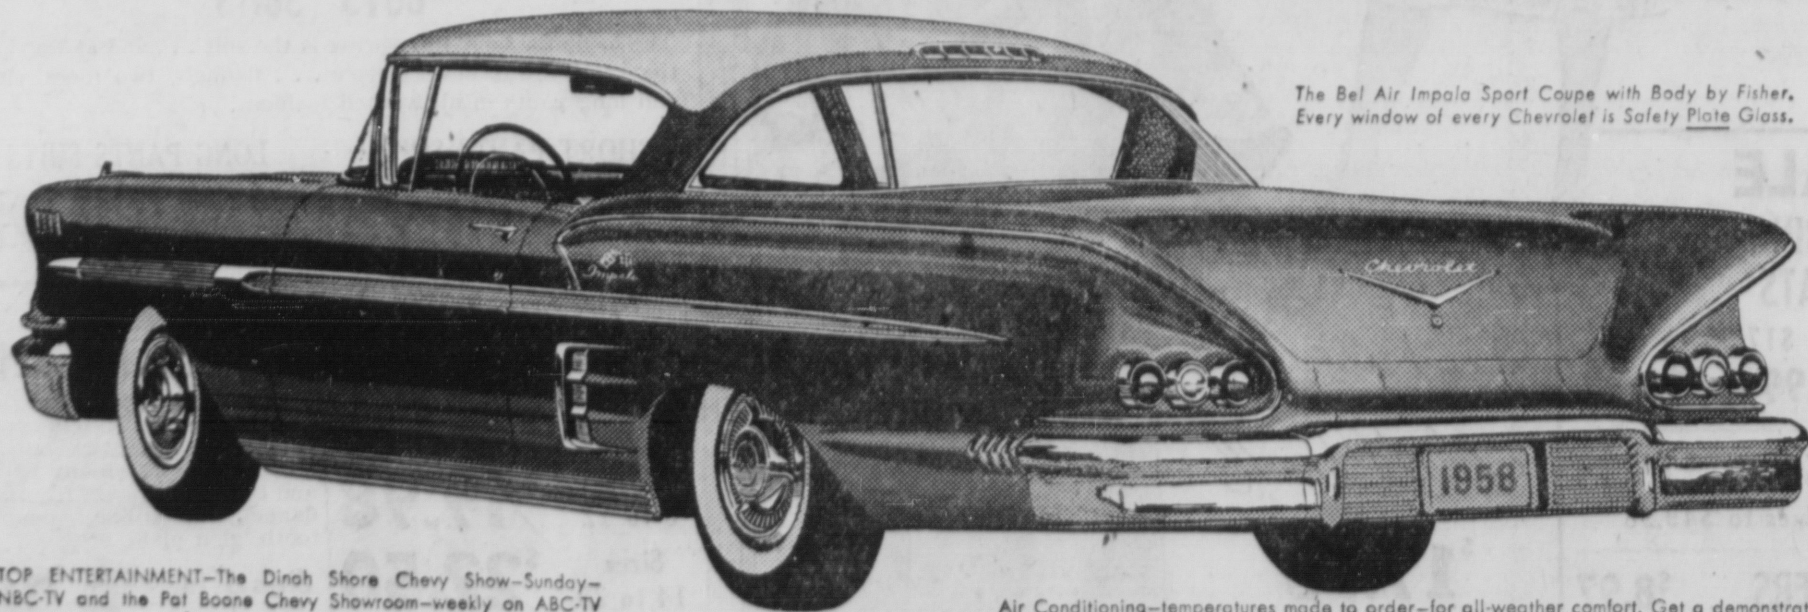

What was so nice was that these shows and gifts were brought between holiday seasons when things were quiet at the veteran hospital. I have not been down there for several years so do not know the needs nor how many patients are there. I used to be in contact with the various heads of departments and knew what was wanted or needed. One organization locally used to take a case of cigarettes every month and distribute them to all the wards. On those visits one got a list of needs of various patients. I understand that now they do not have as large a number of veterans as they did during the war when often there were some 1,000 or more. Some of those patients were there from the first World War and from the Spanish War, spending an entire life-time there. Sometimes it was their only home with no relatives on the outside, except perhaps friends like folks from Kingston, Port Ewen, and places nearby.

Tell your youngsters, when they are making caramels, that slowly adding the milk called for in the recipe will help to prevent the mixture from curdling.

State Commends Operation, Looks of Project

Colonial Gardens 98 Units Are Real Credit To Yosman and Staff

Colonial Gardens on Flatbush Avenue, Kingston's low-rent housing project, has received excellent commendation from the New York State Division of Housing, it was announced today by George E. Yerry Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority.

The communication, signed by Bernard Hirschberg, chief of field management services of the Bureau of Management, Division of Housing, said, "We are pleased to inform you that Mr. Maas' report of his March 19, 1958, visit to Colonial Gardens stated that the grounds and boiler room are being excellently maintained. This observation also applied to the project books and records.

In Fifth Year

The "Mr. Yosman" of the letter is Alexander Yosman, manager of the project. The trim, attractively designed units, of Colonial style, set in pleasing grounds, are now in their fifth year of existence. Colonial Gardens consists of 98 dwelling units—10 three-room apartments occupied by the aged, 60 four-room apartments (two bedrooms) and 28 five-room apartments (three bedrooms). It is set on a plot of land measuring 6.4 acres. The building themselves occupy only 1.6 acres.

Tenants Take Pride

The project, toured this week by your reporter, is a cooperative enterprise in which the tenants take obvious pride. The grounds, offices and apartments are immaculate.

Yosman points out that at the present time there are 368 persons residing in the project. Of these, 103 are children under the age of five, and 87 are from five to 17. There are 178 adults residing in the Gardens.

Yosman explains that the first families moved into the project August 1, 1953.

Since that date 77 families have moved out. Of this number, 43 purchased their own homes, 18 took jobs out of the city and 16 moved away for other reasons.

No Losses

Yosman says that the Gardens has not lost "even a penny" in rents or charges since opening.

He points out that the accent is on friendliness and cleanliness. It is located in a rapidly developing neighborhood along Flatbush Avenue.

Yosman said it is a boon to elderly persons whose incomes might not support more expensive living arrangements.

The three-room apartments rent for $39.50 a month, the four-room apartments for $50 and the five-room apartments for $56.50.

85 Applications

Yosman has approximately 85 unprocessed applications for apartments. When an apartment becomes available the three neediest cases among the applicants are investigated. The most needy is given the apartment.

He explains that the apartments are not rented on a "first come, first served" basis.

Yosman says the purpose of the Gardens is to provide clean,

GOP Solons Would Dig Deeper Into Perfect Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican senators voiced disappointment today that the Senate rackets committee was not delving deeper into Indiana's violence-ridden Perfect Circle Corp. strike in 1955.

Sens. Mundt (SD) and Goldwater (AR) said the committee should have devoted more than the two days it used to an inquiry into the United Auto Workers strike against the piston ring manufacturer.

No More Witnesses

The committee wound up the investigation yesterday when it ran out of witnesses.

Mundt said the committee probably had spent too much time on its probe of the UAW's strike against the Kohler Co., near Sheboygan, Wis. Five weeks were devoted to the Kohler case.

"It looks like here (Perfect Circle) you had a pretty clear cut case of violence being used as a tactic for capitulation of the company, not because of longtime animosity like we had at Kohler," Mundt said.

Little Gained: Ives But Sen. Ives (R-NY) told news men little had been gained from either investigation. Ives voted against the Perfect Circle hearings and stayed away from the hearing.

He said the probes had shown that UAW President Walter Reuther is "honest" and a "good labor leader."

"He came out very well, even though I do not agree with his political philosophy," Ives added.

Drugs for Cattle, Too

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—They used to use a singing cowboy to settle down nervous cattle. Now they use tranquilizers.

More than 200 cattlemen gathered at Texas Tech College here today to hear the results of Tech's feeding experiments.

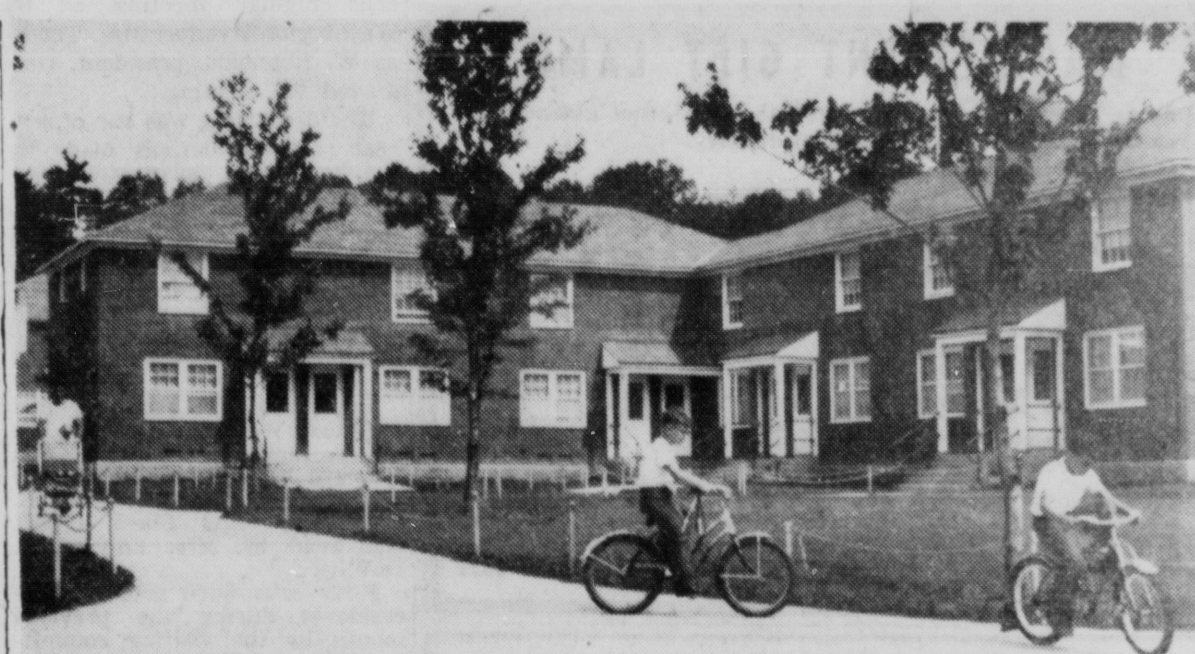

Dr. Wise Burrough of Iowa State University said new tranquilizer drugs are being administered to cattle to calm them down and help them gain weight.

Over 40 Cents 4 Men Sentenced In Fatal Beating

BUFFALO (AP)—Four young men have been sentenced to indeterminate terms for the fatal beating of a truck driver last August. Justice Hamilton Ward of State Supreme Court yesterday sentenced Fritz Crawford and Leslie Nay, both 20, to the Elmira Reformatory. Luther J. Moore and Leonard Benford, both 22, were sentenced to Elmira Reformatory.

The four, all from Buffalo, were convicted of first-degree manslaughter in the slaying of Walter A. Halla, 20, of suburban Cheektowaga.

Halla was beaten in a tavern with a hammer and a bailing hook during an argument over 40 cents change.

NOW IN FIFTH YEAR—Colonial Gardens is now in its fifth year of operation, has a residential population of 368 persons, including 103 children under five and 87 from five to 17 years of age.

PLAYGROUND ATTRACTS CHILDREN—The Colonial Gardens has two playgrounds, part of one shown here with some of the project and neighborhood children at play. The playgrounds are much in use during the spring and summer.

Board of Managers at Home for Aged Meet; View Newly Decorated Rooms of Residents

Managers for the Home for the Aged inspected newly decorated rooms following their regular meeting at 80 Washington Avenue. Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds, president, conducted the meeting.

The decorating was one of several recommendations made by the house and purchasing committee of the board to improve the appearance and approval of the Home. It was approved by the trustees of the Home who ordered the work done. The lessor improvements recommended will be taken care of by the managers through the Good Cheer fund.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented by the Mmes. Severyn Hasbrouck and Leonard Flicker, respectively. In the absence of Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr, the Good Cheer report was read by Mrs. Edward C. DeWitt.

Fifty calls were made on the residents during the previous month by the visiting committee. This information was given by Miss Jane Austen, chairman, who also informed the board that on Wednesday, April 23, she and her committee will entertain the residents at the Home and their guests at a tea.

The applications committee appointed by the president includes Mrs. Edward C. DeWitt, chairman, and the Mmes. Clyde

E. Wonderly Sr. and Howard R. St. John. Mrs. DeWitt said she had sent out two applications during the month and asked that anyone interested in receiving an application or information pertaining thereto, get in touch with her at her home, 145 Pearl Street.

Mrs. Conrad J. Gross described the fine entertainment provided by her committee during the month with the assistance of numerous local organizations and Miss Barbara Monure of Woodstock.

A revised list of rules and regulations for residents at the Home were proposed by Mrs. DeWitt and her committee, comprising the Mmes. Gerard W. Betz, Flicker, St. John, Harold Loughran and George M. Hard. The proposal was accepted by the managers and the Mmes. N. LeVan Haver and Edward C. Remmert appointed by the president to have them printed and distributed to the individual rooms.

The children of the late Mrs. Nellie Haulenbeek have donated a hospital bed to the Home in appreciation for the wonderful life their mother enjoyed while a resident at the Home. This announcement was made by Mrs. Reynolds following her opening prayer as the board convened.

The next meeting of the board will take place on Thursday, April 24, at 2:30 p. m.

Suburban Youngsters Are Frustrated Says Sociologist at Combined B'nai B'rith Meeting

"Re-examination of American communities by mental health specialists and sociologists indicates that suburban communities are not the Utopias parents have made them out to be," said Dr. Thomas Blair speaking before the Kingston B'nai B'rith men and women at the Jewish Community Center Wednesday night. Dr. Blair, a sociologist, member of the faculty at the State Teachers College at New Paltz, and director of the 1958 Summer Workshop in Family Relations at Syracuse University spoke on the topic "Human Relations in Suburbia, Exurbia, and Beyond."

Dr. Blair began his talk by pointing out that many people have thought that if only they could escape the problems of urban living, that if only parents would care enough, would work hard enough, that parenthood would willingly pay taxes high enough to support "good schools," then their children would blossom like flowers in the sun. Recent mental health studies suggest, however, that suburban youngsters show no greater "feeling of belonging," "sense of personal worth," or personal security than slum children. The father's long absence from home each day, the over-organization of the school-child's time, the pressure on children to be popular, the substitution of "things" for love and affection all place severe strains on the suburban child. Thus a reservoir of frustration and hostility is created which, though it lies dormant for a time, erupts in vandalism, juvenile delinquency, and anti-social acts.

There are also a number of other pressing problems facing individuals and groups in local communities, Dr. Blair noted. Particularly, problems arising from the influx of migrant workers and their families, housing discrimination, unequal educational opportunities, discrimination in resorts, and disputes over the introduction of semi-religious pageants in schools, the use of minstrel shows as fund-raising devices by community groups, and school organization and curricula. Dr. Blair suggested that without resolution of these problems in a democratic manner, suburban communities can never be free of the tensions which inhibit full participation by all in community life.

Dr. Blair closed his talk by reciting from Hasidic literature the story of a pupil of Rabbi Raphael. Once during a summer journey the rabbi called a student and asked him to sit beside him in the carriage. The student said: "I fear I may leave you little room." The rabbi answered: "Let us love each other more and there will be plenty of room for both of us."

A period of open discussion with the audience followed Dr. Blair's lecture.

Refreshments were then served by the hostesses for the evening under the leadership of Mrs. Harvey Marcus.

LACKING IN TACT

Dear Mrs. Post: Last Sunday we had a man and his wife in to dinner. They brought along a large box of French pastry which I served for dessert, although I had prepared a dessert of my own. As there was quite a lot of pastry left over and my husband and I seldom eat dessert, I put it back in the box and asked her to please take it home with her as it would only go to waste here. My husband was mortified and said that I was very unappreciative. Will you please tell me if I was wrong in doing what I did?

Answer: I'm sorry but I have to agree with your husband that the explanation you gave was very tactless. If only you had urged her to "share" what was left, you could have given her most of it, and at the same time have been appreciative of her gift.

An Expectant Mother

Dear Mrs. Post: A discussion came up in our office the other day as to how long an expectant mother may go to business. I mean from the point of view of good taste and not from a medical standpoint.

Answer: It depends entirely upon the type of office in which she works. If it is a very small office and her employer has no objection, she may work for so long as she feels able, or if her doctor thinks it advisable. If it is a large office, or if she comes in contact with the public, then she should leave as soon as her condition becomes obvious.

Fiancee Announces Own Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just become engaged and would like to send an announcement to the newspaper, but am puzzled as to the correct way this should be done as both my parents are deceased. Will you please help me?

Answer: If you have neither grandmother nor aunt to announce it for you, it could be announced impersonally this way: "The engagement of Miss Louise Jones, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, is announced to Mr. Henry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Brown."

Is it good taste to use place cards for a small dinner party? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her booklet No. 504 "Table Setting," includes the answer to this question. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

A Little Praise to Wife in 'Crises' Makes Hubby a Hero

Want to keep your wife glad she married you?

You don't have to get anywhere near the top rungs of the success ladder to make sure she'll always think she won a prize when she got you.

All you really have to do is stand by her in the small emergencies that can look so big to a woman at times. She'll think you're close to perfect if you'll just remember how to behave at times like these:

When she is worried about whether her dress is exactly right for an important party. This is the time when you MUST tell her several times during the evening that she looks beautiful. Don't mention the dress; just make her feel like the most glamorous woman at the party.

When she has a fight with her best friend. Side with your wife—but don't light into the other woman. Remember they'll probably be best friends again in a few days. Just put across the idea that you're always on the side of your wife.

Don't Spare Compliments
When she works hard to give a nice party and after it is over and she wonders if everyone had a good time. Don't wonder along with her. Drag out the nicest compliment you heard all evening and tell it to her. And while you're doing it, tell her you had a good time yourself.

When the operator at her favorite beauty shop goes and she is in tears over the too curly permanent or the too short hair-do. This is no time to advise her to find a new beauty shop or a new operator. Just tell her calmly that she looks mighty pretty to you.

When she's had a hectic day and your arrival home finds her with the dinner not yet started. Suggest going out to dinner and see if she doesn't give you a look that makes you feel like the chairman of the board.

When she has a birthday that is a milestone—one that she has frankly been dreading. That's the time to take her dancing at the most romantic spot in town.

Any man who wants a woman to think he understands her has to recognize those crises that seem small to him, but awfully important to her.

British Heiress, Shipping Clerk Wed Second Time

NEW YORK (AP)—A British heiress and a shipping clerk, world-trotting elopers, were married here yesterday for the second time in two months.

Dominic Elwes, son of a British portrait painter, and the former Tessa Kennedy said they went through the second ceremony because their first marriage in Havana was in Spanish and they "couldn't understand a word of it."

The couple was married on Jan. 27 by a notary public in Cuba after traveling from Scotland to find an official who would perform the ceremony. The bride's father, Geoffrey Farrar Kennedy, had obtained a writ to prevent the marriage in England or Scotland on grounds that his daughter, 19, was too young.

Elwes, 26, told newsmen the Havana wedding was legal and binding. Justice Henry Clay Greenberg performed the second ceremony in his chambers in State Supreme Court.

Elwes said his father, Simon Elwes, is in New York City but that he didn't attend the ceremony "because of the publicity." Elwes added: "But we have his blessing."

In taking out a marriage license here Monday the couple listed no previous marriages on their application.

'Neurotic' Label Is Modern Form of 'Predestined' Hell

A mother writes: "Our 10-year-old girl has a new teacher who is always criticizing her. From what other mothers tell me, their youngsters dislike the woman, too. But she doesn't seem to upset them as she does my child. Is she neurotic? Sometimes she cries before going to school."

Why do you think of your child as "neurotic"?

It is the laziness in us that applies such a psychological term to a child's problem. Using the term enables us to avoid struggling with the problem ourselves by making it into a big scientific mystery we can't be expected to understand or help.

I see no mystery in this little girl's resistance to school. Would her mother enjoy working for a boss who pounced on her. Of course not. Then why doesn't her child's dislike of a pouncing authority appear natural to her?

Certainly the youngster must continue to go to school in order to discover that she can survive an unpleasant experience.

But when we see her natural dislike of it as unnatural and "neurotic," we add fear of being queer to her fear of the teacher. And this makes fear of the teacher much, much harder to endure.

I feel I really must speak out against this modern habit of damning other people with psychological labels.

We're supposed to be enlightened people. We think we have progressed far beyond the old religious fanatics who predestined others to hell without hope of salvation. I think we haven't.

Today, instead of damning sinners to eternal flames, we damn to psychological suffering anyone who strikes us as being more sad, more angry, more scared than we think he ought to be. We call him "neurotic" or "fixated" or "compulsive."

This habit has been adopted by parents. Where the old Calvinist parent meekly submitted to the idea that hell was yawning for his innocent child, we meekly accept the idea that anything unusual in a child's behavior is "neurotic."

Of this submissiveness, psy-choanalyst Erich Fromm writes: "In the old days the individual at least knew that there was some person or doctrine that condemned him—and he could at least fight back. But who can fight against 'science'?" He calls such submissiveness "dangerous." (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Rudy Milkey, Ivy League's Top Scorer and Jack Curry Bolster Bombardiers for Kingston Tourney Doubleheader Tonight

Byrne Chevies Vie Fishkill in Opener

The Pine Plains Bombardiers fresh from their sensational victory over Danbury in the Poughkeepsie YMCA tourney last night will be here tonight in the Kingston Invitational with some new faces which may spearhead the quintet to another post-season championship.

George Stuetzle will be without Frank Koenig and Ronnie Scheffel, but he has enlisted the services of Rudy Milkey, 6-5 Columbia U ace and the Ivy League's leading scorer this season and Jack Curry, former 6-4 pivotman for Siena College.

With Ted Dwyer, the former Columbia Whiz, Gary Holway, and other regulars, the Bombardiers will be a decided favorite over the Economy Cleaners in the nightcap of a giant double-bill in the Municipal Auditorium.

The curtain raiser will find the ever-appealing Byrne Chevies making their first showing in the classic, opposing Van Voorhis Lumber of Fishkill. The Lumbermen comprised of a combination of the Fishkill team which was entered in the HVBL will be tough, but they'll show nothing which the Byrne squad hasn't already seen or will be able to cope with.

The Chevies were unbeaten in league play which included decisive victories over Fishkill and formidable Pine Plains.

Coach Red Murray will rely on the starting five of Scheffel-Koenig-Bud Smith-Skip Broadhead-Knott to keep the locals alive.

Newburgh's Economy Cleaners will have their hands full against Pine Plains. Coach Stan Levinson said they came more equipped than he did in his team's initial win against Bala-tin R/X of Middletown. Only five players were on hand for that encounter. It is a good bet the Cleaners will appear with its complete roster.

Tennis Pros to Tutor Davis Cup Hopefuls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There's a bright new hope — Jack Kramer and his pro tennis stars to be specific — today to Uncle Sam's chances for winning back the Davis Cup.

James B. Moffett, chairman of the Cup Selection Committee, said Kramer and his touring foursome — Pancho Gonzales, Pancho Segura, Tony Trabert and Lew Hoad — would tutor amateurs hopeful of making the American team.

The first student will be Barry MacKay, 23-year-old Michigan graduate from Dayton, Ohio, and a member of the 1957 team, which lost to Australia 3-2. MacKay will go to New York this weekend from Monte Carlo and practice with the pros on their Eastern swing.

When the tour ends, MacKay is to go to Los Angeles and work under the guidance of Kramer, a former U. S. champion and Davis Cup player.

Moffett emphasized other prospects, those "who not only want to win but who show us they can," will be eligible for similar training when it can be arranged.

Wood chips reclaimed from seven sawmills in Maine and New Hampshire annually are commercially used in place of trees that would occupy about 20,000 acres of woodland per year. Formerly the chips were discarded as waste.

Steve Brooks Brings Home 3000th Winner

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If veteran jockey Steve Brooks regards three as his lucky number from now on, it won't be surprising.

He joined the select circle of riders who have won 3,000 races yesterday aboard Tempest Tossed, the No. 3 horse in the three-furlong $3,000 third race at Gulfstream Park.

Only six other U. S. jockeys have ridden that many winners — Johnny Longden, Eddie Arcaro, Ralph Neves, Johnny Adams, Ted Atkinson and Willie Shoemaker.

Bob Short's 32 Fails to Dent MAD All-Stars

The MAD All-Stars overcame a 32-point performance by Bob Short to defeat Port Ewen 84 to 66 yesterday. The winners were paced by John Woods and John Bruck who had 24 and 20 each. The Stars led all the way. They took a 23-21 lead at the quarter and increased it to 37 to 31 at halftime.

Sisler Extends Streak to 33 Innings, Loses

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Boston right-hander Dave Sisler stretched his perfect pitching streak to 33 batters yesterday—then wound up being the first Red Sox hurler to be charged with a loss in nine games.

Sisler hurled perfect ball for two innings before giving up a single to Hobie Landrith in the third of a game with the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg.

In the fifth, the Cards rapped Dave for a double, a single, a triple and a single, good for three runs, en route to a 4-3 victory. The Red Sox, who had won eight straight, wound up suffering their fifth loss in 18 games in Grapefruit League competition.

Ray Moore, new Chicago White Sox pitcher, relieved in only one game for Baltimore in 1957. Sox manager Al Lopez plans to use him in relief this year.

Minoso's Hot Bat Yields 8 Runs on Three Homers

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

Steve Bilko is making his ponderous presence felt with the Cincinnati Redlegs following 13 seasons in organized baseball that established him as nothing better than a "good-hit, no-field minor leaguer."

Purchased from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League last Oct. 8, Bilko is seeking to win a regular job with the Redlegs. He failed in previous attempts with the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs, but Cincinnati decided to give him a try after he hit 56 homers and drove in 140 runs in the PCL.

Yesterday, the 6-1, 230-pound first baseman slammed two home runs and led the Redlegs to a 9-2 victory over Philadelphia. He ended a scoreless deadlock with a two-run blow in the fourth and homered again with a runner aboard in the seventh. Both drives came off south paw Curt Hylan.

Bilko was not the only player to wield a hot bat in yesterday's exhibition games.

Minie Slugs
Minnie Minoso clubbed three homers as the Cleveland Indians outslug the Chicago Cubs 14-7. Minoso, who was obtained from the Chicago White Sox the past winter, drove in eight runs. Earnie Banks, a hittin' fool all spring, homered twice for the Cubs.

Bill Skowron drove in eight runs with two homers and a single in the New York Yankees' 15-11 triumph over the White Sox. His grand slammer off Bob Keegan in the seventh turned the tide. Skowron is batting .417.

Mathews Hot Bat
Eddie Mathews drove in three runs with a pair of doubles and a single and Hank Aaron helped with a home run as Milwaukee's world champs beat Pittsburgh 7-2. It turned out to be a double loss for the Pirates, for they lost the services of outfielder Ramon Mejias. He injured his right leg in the eighth and had to be carried off the field.

Ends Streak
The Cards ended Boston's eight-game winning streak by defeating the Red Sox 4-3. In other games, Washington edged Los Angeles 7-6, Kansas City trimmed Detroit 4-1 and San Francisco defeated Baltimore, also by a 4-1 count.

The Phillies and Giants trimmed their rosters. Philadelphia sent nine players to Miami of the International League and Tulsa of the Texas League. Highly-touted outfielder Don Landrum went to Miami. The Giants sold lefty pitcher Jim Davis to Seattle of the PCL.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, top active hitter in the National League, says he plans to play one or two more seasons.

THE RILEYS RIDE HIGH—Thomas Riley, 58, kisses his wife after they arrived in London April 1 from their home in Horden to collect $585,421 they won on a two-cent investment in a soccer pool. The Riley and 15 relatives came to London to collect the tax-free winnings. Riley had worked 44 years in coal mines and had quit March 31. He won the money by selecting seven soccer games that would end in the scores. The couple plans to come to the United States to visit a polio-crippled grandson in Canton, Ohio. ## Harry's Angels Finally Beat Wimpy's—Forfeit

Harry's Angels finally beat Wimpy's 1, but it was without making a basket. Unsuccessful in two previous attempts in the best of seven series in the YMCA playoffs, the Angels were handed one last night when the champions were unable to muster a team and lost by forfeit.

Wimpy's attempted to have the playing date changed because some of its players were competing in another tournament, but according to a team player, Dick Case, tourney director, failed to acknowledge the request.

At any rate, the regular season's play at the "Y" finally was completed with the Backs turning the tide against Boulevard Gulf 74 to 69.

Hylan Van Wagenen paced the winners with 28 points. Don Krueger and Nick Naegle were the big point getters for the losers with 20 and 19.

More Than 25,000 Trout in UC Waters

More than 25,000 legal trout have been stocked in Ulster County waters, according to Chet Joy, stock chairman of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of the county.

He suggested that stocking for the Phoenicia area be curtailed until mid-April or early May because of the heavy concentration of snow.

About 80 Track Hopefuls Out at KHS, Room for More

Anywhere between 80 and 100 track hopefuls at Kingston High School will resume training after the Easter recess on April 14 to gird for the grind prior to the opening meet against Arlington May 2.

Coach Warren Kias emphasized the fact that there are plenty of openings which have to be filled in that short space of time.

He made it clear that all the berths are open with a nucleus of the squad built around 10 members of last year's squad.

Looked upon to make the Maroons a contender are John Angstrom, Ronald Baylor, Jeff Barron, Marv Engle, John Kelly, Ray Peterson, Ted Switz, Cap Foster, Bill Sill and Don Weakley.

Some bright prospects are Bob Hamil, Pete Leeds, Bill Dederick, Bob Dittus, Joe Klonowski and Ray Radel.

Slate Drill for Hurley Little League Saturday

The first workout for newcomers to Little Leaguers in the Town of Hurley will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday at the Hurley School field.

Boys who played in the league last year and are eligible to play this season, are asked to stay away from the drills. The initial session is for new boys who will be making a bid for one of the teams.

Sanction Dupas And Fuentes Go

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The legal maneuvering surrounding the racial status of lightweight contender Ralph Dupas developed a new twist today with the stylish New Orleans boxer given a vote of confidence by the State Athletic Commission.

The commission met last night and decided unanimously to uphold its previous sanction of a 10-round match next Monday between Dupas and welterweight Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles.

The group disregarded the opinion of State Assistant Atty. Gen. John E. Jackson, who advised the bout would violate state segregation laws, which forbid competition between whites and Negroes. The meeting did not concern the race of the 22-year-old fighter, but whether the group should heed Jackson's opinion.

Orleans Parish (County) appeals Judge Richard McBride Monday reversed a lower court ruling which ordered the City of New Orleans to issue Dupas a delayed birth certificate showing him to be white.

McBride said the lower court

Celtics-Hawks Go at It Again On Closed TV

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The favored Boston Celtics and fired-up St. Louis Hawks, even after two games, resume their rivalry tonight in the third game of the National Basketball Assn. championship series.

Both coaches expressed confidence in ultimate victory in the best-of-seven series.

And indications were that the St. Louis-Boston rivalry may grow hotter than ever in the next two games, scheduled for tonight and Saturday night at Kiel Auditorium.

Closed TV
Tonight's game will be on closed-circuit television in the 3,500-seat Kiel Opera House adjoining the auditorium. The closed circuit TV, set up after both games were sold out, is said by the Hawks to be the first such basketball telecast.

If the defending champion Celtics lost any confidence as a result of their 104-102 defeat by St. Louis in the opener at Boston, they regained it with a smashing 136-112 victory in the second game Sunday.

Red Auerbach, Celtic coach, predicted after the second game his club would come on strongly the rest of the series.

The coach of the Hawks, Alex Hannum, said he was "particularly glad to be even with a Celtic team Boston owner Walter Brown said was as strong in the stronger Eastern Division as the Hawks were weak in the weak Western Division."

A slow burn has been developing for months in the Hawk camp over belittling remarks attributed to Brown.

lacks such jurisdiction to make the order.

The city has contended Dupas is actually Ralph Dupleiss, a Negro born in adjoining Plaquemine Parish.

Scheffel, Koenig Spark Pine Plains to Poughkeepsie 'Y' Title

Ronnie Shaded By Ted Dwyer as MVP

The Pine Plains Bombardiers, sparked by Kingston's Ronnie Scheffel and Frank Koenig and the brilliant Ted Dwyer captured the Poughkeepsie YMCA tournament there last night with a 115-104 victory over Danbury, Conn.

It was the Nutmegers first defeat and it was the play of Scheffel and Koenig that turned the tide in the third period when a string of 15-points gave the Bombardiers a 78 to 65 edge.

However, at 2:05 in the fourth, Danbury sparked by Dennis Manochi, a high school junior, came to within two points, 99 to 97, but that was as close as they could get.

Manochi captivated a capacity crowd with his one-handed jump shots, but in the stretch it was the shooting of Koenig and Scheffel that pulled the champs away.

Dwyer edged out Scheffel as the tournament's most valuable player. A mediocre performance in the semi-finals by Scheffel cost him the trophy, but the play of the Byrne Chevie stars was sensational last night.

Roofer Leads in Two Events in ABC Tourney

SYRACUSE (AP)—Sammy Walker was more surprised than anyone to find himself leading two divisions of the 55th American Bowling Congress championships today.

The 29-year-old-roofer from Canandaigua, N. Y., took over the reins of the All-Events category after compiling a 586-666-658 — 1910 aggregate. His 666 in the doubles yesterday was combined with Robert Schaeffer's 601 to give the pair a 1267 aggregate and first place in the two-man team division.

"I don't get much chance to bowl in tournament," Walker said with a smile after shooting his fat total, "and I do very little open bowling. I'm as surprised as anyone that I shot so well."

Walker's 1910 would have finished 23rd in the 1957 ABC at Fort Worth, Tex. It would have been worth sixth place at Rochester, N. Y., in 1956.

Move to Third
The K-Lens-M team from Cortland, N. Y., moved into third place in the open team standings yesterday with a 1001-978-931 — 2910 showing.

John Partigiani, one of three brothers on the club, paced the performance with 616.

The Town Grille of Dansville, N. Y., and Uptown Bar & Restaurant of Kenosha, Wis., moved into fifth and sixth place, respectively. The Dansville team shot 2892 and the Kenosha felled 2889 pins.

The Phillips Equipment team of Harrisburg, Pa., still heads the open team standings with 2945 it assembled Sunday.

Booster Group
Rome, N. Y., placed another two teams in the top standings of the Booster Division yesterday.

Parry's News placed the Upstate New York team on the ten-pin map Monday when it knocked out a 2806 series, the best three-game total since 1954 in the booster division.

Yesterday the Strip Steel No. 1 club shot 2758 to take second place and Les Clemens Plumbing and Heating rolled 2709 for fourth, to further Rome's stronghold in the lower-average section.

The Richmond Grill of Rochester, N. Y., rolled 2711 to take third place and prevent a complete monopoly of the Booster's upper strata.

KidBasseyKO'sMoreno In Third to Retain Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World featherweight champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey played an April Fool's Day joke on his ring counselors—but they liked it just fine today.

"We told him to box — so he knocks the chap out early," said Bassey's manager, George Biddles of England.

The chap was Ricardo (Pajari-to) Moreno of Mexico, who had been hailed as the more vicious puncher.

Surprises Fans
But it was the champion from Nigeria who left ringside mouths agape with his savage third-round annihilation last night of Mexico's Little Bird.

"I fought the first round exactly as I had planned," Moreno sadly explained later through an interpreter, "After that I could do nothing."

"He hit me hard in the first round, so I slugged back," Bassey admitted with a grin. And the champ from British West Africa continued bombing until the Little Bird collapsed like a pressed duck with just a few seconds left in the third.

Hurt In Second
Moreno took the first step toward Groggland when Bassey, 124, clipped him with a ripping uppercut midway in the second. The Little Bird made a game stand for the rest of the round, however.

In the third, Bassey opened with a wild-swinging barrage. A solid right sent Moreno, 124½, reeling across the ring. The pint-sized African then moved forward and planted another jarring right to the jaw.

Collapsed
Moreno's mouthpiece bounced to the canvas and he stumbled along the ropes. Bassey followed with another right hand smash and Moreno staggered and collapsed.

It was Bassey's first defense of the 126-pound title since winning the vacant featherweight crown from Cherif Hamia last June in Paris. He collected a guarantee of $70,000 from the Wrigley Field gross gate of $215,047.06—or almost $8,000 a minute. Moreno was $38,000 richer for his beating.

The Bassey camp planned to return to England before deciding on any future fights for the champion.

30,000 on Hand For Opening of Roosevelt Track

WESTBURY (AP)—Overcoats were a must last night as plush Roosevelt Raceway opened its 19th season of harness racing with a 35-mile-per-hour northwest wind cooling off the customers in mid-30 degree weather.

Nevertheless 29,961 turned out and wagered a record opening night's $1,925,439 on the nine races. This compared to 32,525 on opening night last Aug. 1 when the mutual handle was $1,692,114.

ROUNDING OUT—Tony Kubek played everywhere last year but second base—which is where the Yankees put him first off during training workouts. Here, Tony charges a grounder as Charley Silveira watches.

Rory Calhoun, Pompey Clash On TV Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Yolande Pompey, a light-heavyweight with his eye on "mixing it up" meets Rory Calhoun, a heavy-fisted middleweight in a scheduled 10-round bout here tonight.

Observers are expected the affair to be a rouser. Some doubt it will last 10 rounds.

Pompey, who was born in the British West Indies, has knocked out 25 of his opponents, and Calhoun, 17 of 37.

Calhoun, from New York by way of Atlanta, is equally deadly with either hand in the ring, and has a particularly deadly left hook. He'll be facing a boxer in Pompey, but one who says he'll be looking for "that opening for a good, solid punch."

The opening for a good punch has showed up plenty before, since Pompey has a 34-4-3 record. Calhoun, ranked the No. 6 middleweight, will be 33-3-1 going into the fight.

The match will be televised (ABC) at 10 p. m.

New Look

The Cleveland Indians will have a new look, uniform-wise, this season. A pin-stripe has been adopted and the formerly solid blue socks will be encircled by red and white stripes.

Personal Fouls

Arnie Johnson of Rochester committed 68 personal fouls in the NBA playoffs of the 1950-51 season, the highest number in the 11 seasons.

The African lungfish must come to the surface to breathe. It can live for long periods out of water, consuming its own body tissues.

Manager Casey Stengel has led the New York Yankees to eight American League pennants in the last nine seasons.

NBA Moguls Meet To Decide Fate Of Cage Royals

CINCINNATI (AP)—Directors of the National Basketball Assn. get a chance next Monday afternoon to consider proposed purchase of the Cincinnati Royals.

Maurice Podoloff, association president, told of the meeting yesterday after conferring with two groups here who want to buy the team, and said that a third group outside Cincinnati is also interested in the franchise.

He said, "By midnight Monday I think we'll know where we are headed."

The directors must approve sale or transfer of a team. The meeting is planned in New York. Norman Shapiro of Rochester, N. Y., has already concluded a deal with Royals owners Les and Jack Harrison. And Podoloff said a group he did not identify has shown a "very active interest in the team, but not in Cincinnati."

Syracuse University and UCLA will play a home-and-home football series in 1963 and 1964. The first game is at UCLA.

Rocket Zips Montreal To Stanley Cup Finals

DETROIT (AP)—Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, who said "I just did the best I could," had his Montreal Canadiens headed for a brief rest today while the Detroit Red Wings tried to throw off the shock of their worst beating in Stanley Cup history.

It was the marvelous Rocket, probably the youngest 36-year-old ever to put on a pair of skates, who almost single-handedly beat down the once-proud Red Wings who ruled the National Hockey League for so many years.

Richard, who missed 42 games during the regular season because of a serious cut, had his finest hour last night in Montreal's 4-3 triumph that completed a four-game sweep of the best-of-seven preliminary series.

Meanwhile, the New York Rangers whipped the Boston Bruins 5-2 and deadlocked their best-of-seven series at 2-2.

Playing in his 1,000th NHL contest over a 16-year period, Richard counted the three-goal hat trick and pulled his team from a 3-1 deficit in the last 20 minutes of play. The goals were his 75th, 76th and 77th in Stanley Cup play.

Four Straight
Montreal took the series by scores of 8-1 and 5-1 in Montreal and 2-1 and 4-3 in Detroit ice, thus getting a full measure of revenge for the drubbing the Canadiens took in 1952. That was the year the Red Wings won the preliminary series in four games and trounced the Canadiens four straight in the Stanley Cup finals, which annually produce the world champion.

Shake Lineup
The Canadiens will be off a few days while Boston and New York settle their preliminary match.

The Bruins' high-scoring line of Bronco Horvath, Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk faced a shaking up today after the loss.

"They've shown a complete reversal of form and we're going to have to do something," Coach Milt Schmidt said last night.

Schmidt started out by benching Bucyk, a 20-goal scorer in the regular season, and replacing him with Buddy Boone in the third period. However, the switch failed to pay off as Horvath, a 30-goal scorer, and Stasiuk, a 21-goal scorer, couldn't connect.

The Rangers jumped into a 1-0 lead at 5:19 of the first period as Andy Bathgate intercepted a pass and dropped the puck to Dean Prentice, who connected on a 15-footer while the Rangers' Lou Fontinato was in the penalty box.

A few minutes later Dave Creighton made it 2-0 on a power play with Bucyk off for kneeing. The Bruins never caught up.

Yogi Berra of the Yankees has averaged 27 home runs a season during the last eight years.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — One thing is sure. If Carmen Basilio has many more fights he'll be knocking on the bughouse door at Bellevue.

But business is much too good for Sugar Ray Robinson and Basilio to be put back in their own classes, where attractive matches await each, although none approaching their renewal money wise.

Against Robinson in the Chicago battlepit, Basilio looked even more like a boy tackling a man than he did the first trip at Yankee Stadium.

Boxing history is replete with cases of accomplished ringmen getting their ears pinned back in biting off more than they could chew. And Basilio is little more than a glorified club fighter with tremendous heart. When Robinson was still pretty good, he discovered why they put fighters on scales. The Sugar Man suffered from something more than the heat that night against Joey Maxim.

Basilio conceded Robinson 10 or 11 pounds in addition to height and reach. Robinson, who had to make weight, came in at 159½ pounds 10 hours before they were called front and center. A built-up Basilio weighed 153. Robinson picked up something like three pounds by ringtime. Basilio, whose best weight is 151, probably lost a pound.

IF A RACING SECRETARY were handicapping the Robinson of today and Basilio with the idea of bringing them to the wire in a photo finish the handicaps would be just what they were. Basilio would get seven years in age, Robinson 10 pounds, four and a half inches in height and five and a half inches in reach.

That brings them so closely together that they batter each other into a state of exhaustion and fight to a split decision. There hasn't been a knockdown in 30 rounds.

While there was plenty of doubt on both sides, the bettors made the open target that is Basilio an 8-to-5 favorite.

There are a half dozen middleweights who would be equally well liked against Robinson, who is on his last legs at crowding 38. In the opinion of schooled boxing men, Robinson would be made to order for a strong young belter like Rory Calhoun. Joey Giardello, Holly Mims, Spider Webb, Charley Humez and Bobby Boyd would be liked against him. The now unprecedented five-time champ gives Gene Fullmer's return bout contract the back of his hand.

BASILIO WOULD BE IN his own league against the winner of the Virgil Akins-Vince Martinez joust to be fought for the 147-pound title he vacated.

If the plucky onion picker happened to own the 160-pound championship when he finally runs out of Robinson, the other middleweights would be too big and good for him.

But why worry about that? The other middleweights and welters can wait.

Money is all that counts in this racket. With standing room closed circuit television crowds throughout the country, Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio aren't going to fight anybody but each other. They never had it so good.

This is the greatest series since the Dodgers quit playing the Yankees.

Silky Sullivan, 3-year-old chestnut colt who won the Santa Anita Derby, is the son of Sullivan — Lady n' Silk. He earned $83,400 in taking the rich California race.

Of the active Yankees, Mickey Mantle holds all the hitting records but one. That one—hitting safely in 19 straight games—belongs to Yogi Berra. He did it in 1956.

Reactions Vary
To State Rule on Alcoholics Aid

ALBANY (AP)—A state order directing county welfare agencies to ease their standards for giving aid to alcoholics is meeting with varied reactions.

Under a directive made public yesterday, the agencies were urged to make relief available to more alcoholics who have been fired from their jobs and turned into social and economic outcasts because of drinking.

Some county officials balked. Others said there would not be much change in their present relief procedures.

Dr. Alonzo S. Yerby, deputy commissioner for medical affairs in the State Social Welfare Department, said the state issued the directive after federal and some county welfare officials suggested the state's policy was too "restrictive."

Yerby said the department was "neither throwing the doors open to alcoholics nor closing them."

"We are treating alcoholism as we do any other illness. Most doctors agree alcoholism is an illness," he said.

Dr. Robert P. Whalen, Albany county welfare commissioner, said the order posed the "threat of supporting sick row."

See More Expense

Commissioners Lee Vosburgh of Schenectady County, Peter J. Woloson of Chemung County, and Warren M. Kelly of Delaware County also attacked the order.

"It means more expense without solving the basic problem," Kelly said.

Whalen and Vosburgh said their counties handle alcoholics at county institutions, providing food, medicine and clothing — but no money.

Handing an alcoholic a check "wouldn't do them any good and would be a waste of money," Vosburgh contended.

Whalen said Albany County intended to continue to care for alcoholics on a broad policy of discretion, rather than specific rules, even if it meant losing state and federal aid.

Vosburgh and Woloson concurred. Woloson's county now helps alcoholics with food, clothing and shelter on a strictly voucher basis.

Hopeful Program

The federal government shares the cost only if welfare recipients are paid in cash. If they receive vouchers, the state and county share the cost equally.

Yerby described the plan as a "hopeful program."

He said the qualifications had been set up as guideposts for trained social workers, "with no axes to grind," to make decisions in individual cases.

He said counties would not lose federal aid if they handled alcoholics at county facilities, as both Albany and Schenectady do. Federal funds would be paid in cash and the alcoholic would endorse the check over to the county for his support, Yerby said.

Lions Award 10 Year Pin to Gabriel Vozdik

Gabriel Vozdik was awarded a 10-year pin and commended for faithful Lions membership by John Kerns, secretary at a recent meeting of the Saugerties Lions Club. Kerns also reported on a new application form for prospective members which will give more information about the applicant to the membership committee.

William Plimley returned to the club this past Monday after spending a vacation in Arizona. He brought back greetings from Joseph Vozdik to all Lion members and his friends in Saugerties.

After a complete report from the chairman of the various minstrel committees, the club held a practice session which included songs by the end men backed by a full chorus. Specialty numbers and solos were also rehearsed.

Potential Alcoholics

NEW YORK (AP)—The case of the woman who became an alcoholic after downing her first drink at the age of 80.

A group of business men studying the economic impact of alcoholism heard about it yesterday.

Dr. Harold W. Lovell, a psychiatrist, cited the woman's case as proof that many persons are potential alcoholics without drinking at all.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

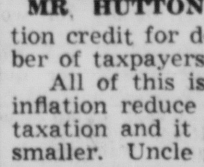

THE HOLE IN THE DOUGHNUT

Government taxes—and some day we'll fall off the roof! The individual income tax produces one-half of all Federal revenue, which is estimated at 72½ billion bucks for the current fiscal year. That's nice, isn't it? A fact not generally realized is that the great bulk of the revenue from this tax comes not from those with large incomes but from those with small and medium-sized incomes. This is so simply because the small and medium-sized incomes in the aggregate constitute most of the nation's income.

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer, get this into your brain buzzer. Eighty-four per cent of the revenue from this heck of a tax is produced by the first bracket of 20%. The rates above 50% produce (upon the basis of the calendar year 1955) about 700 million $'s, or 1% of the total Federal Government's revenue.

By comparison, an increase of only 100 bucks in the present personal 600 $ exemption credit for dependents, would reduce by 7 millions the number of taxpayers and create a revenue loss of 2½ billions.

All of this is as clear as a hole in a doughnut. Taxes and inflation reduce the "goodies" in the doughnut. The "hole" is taxation and it gets bigger and bigger, and the "goodies" grow smaller. Uncle gets the "dough" and we are the nuts!

MR. HUTTON

New Hurley

NEW HURLEY—Mrs. Edward Christian Blaustein, the former Elizabeth May of this place, was given a surprise baby shower for her son Edward Christian, by Mrs. Marie Bedell at her home, Hoagburg Hill Road.

Those attending were Mrs. Jennie Castori, Mrs. Mary Castori, Mrs. Esther Bedell, Mrs. John R. May and son John Robert Jr., Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. John May Sr. and daughter Susan. Due to illness Mrs. Rein Blaustein was unable to attend.

There will be no meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society or New Hurley Guild this month.

Flowers for the church for Easter Sunday should be at the church by Saturday noon.

The Walkill area union Easter day of service will be held on King's Hill 6:30 a. m. The Rev. James Ebers of Walden Reformed Church will preach the sermon.

Regular Sunday church school will meet at the church hall 9:50 a. m. Divine worship 11 a. m. There will be nursery care for pre-school children.

Mrs. Earl DeWitt of Gardinertown, was a dinner guest Wednesday at Mrs. Edward Powell and sister.

Roy Denniston, who is a student at Cornell University, is spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denniston.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCartney of Bagley, Iowa, are the parents of a son, John Edward, born March 24. Mrs. McCartney is the former Catherine Hotelling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hotelling of this place.

Artful Strategy

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Ercil Brown told some neighbor men he knew how to avoid all the hazards a husband faces when his wife demands some household repairs. "There's no need to hit yourself with a hammer," Brown declared, "since all you have to do is to put both hands on it." To the immediate question of who holds the nail, Brown answered:

"She does."

Looking Wrong Way

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP)—Local police were sent to investigate an accident in which a moving car had smashed into the rear of a parked car, pushing it into a second parked car. The motorist explained that he had glanced behind him as he passed an intersection to make sure he didn't go through a red light and hit the first parked car before he came to a stop around to look at the road ahead again.

Always Ready

A large platter of sandwiches for buffets may be made several hours before serving time and kept fresh by wrapping the sandwich-filled platter in waxed paper, covering with dampened towel and storing in refrigerator.

Matter of FACT

The Lydians, a people of Asia Minor, were the first to use coined money. In the eighth century, B.C., they began to make pieces of metal money, uniform in weight and design, which could be easily recognized. Other peoples around the Mediterranean Sea imitated the Lydians, and gradually the use of coins spread.

10 Cubans Stay
On Hunger Strike

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ten Cuban rebel sympathizers continued a hunger strike today. Twenty-two others were out in bond after an anti-Batista demonstration at a Miami railroad station.

The hunger strikers are encamped in the lobby of television station WTVJ. The management said they may stay as long as they are orderly.

Two of them fainted last night, a station spokesman said, but appeared to recover satisfactorily. He did not know their names.

Pledge to Continue

The hunger strike will continue, the Cubans said, until 36 other rebel supporters are released from jail at Brownsville, Tex., where they are held on charges of arms-running. The Texas group also is on a hunger strike.

At Brownsville 21 Cuban rebel sympathizers neared the end of a week of hunger striking at the county jail, and 14 others were being fed intravenously at a hospital.

They were arrested by U. S. officials Thursday after Coast Guard vessels captured their converted fishing boat in the Gulf of Mexico and were charged with conspiracy to violate the U. S. neutrality act.

Their leader, Arnaldo G. Barron, said the men were fasting in protest of what he called U. S. arm shipments to government forces in Cuba. Barron is a Cuban-born New Yorker.

Eight Give Up

In New York City, the 28 sympathizers who began a hunger strike five days ago saw their number shrink to 19 today.

A woman was taken to a hospital in a weakened condition and later released. Eight others, all men, dropped out earlier this week.

In another development, a cache of more than 900 hand grenades was found in Biscayne Blvd. office here by sheriff's deputies. Sheriff Thomas J. Kelly said the office was rented to two rebel sympathizers already in jail in connection with discovery last week of 600 sticks of dynamite in an apartment.

Wins by Write-Ins

SUPERIOR, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. Arabelle Hanna, closing out her first two year term as mayor, was spurred by her party—the Conservatives—when it held its caucus to select candidates.

So her name wasn't on the ballot in the city election yesterday. But Mrs. Hanna will continue as mayor the next two years.

She received 509 write-in votes to handily defeat two men candidates. Tom Hannegan, the choice of the Conservative Party caucus, got 183 and Floyd Bryan of the People's Party got 222.

LYONSVILLE—Reformed Church, the Rev. Herman J. Knickel, pastor, Easter services will be held 11:15 a. m. The Rev. Mr. Knickel has chosen for his sermon topic, "The Fact and the Challenge of Death's Dethronement." Oscar S. Christensen will sing a special selection.

Mrs. Joseph Jannetto entertained at her home Tuesday evening.

Charles Harris Jr., and Ronald Roosa spent a few days last week at the Farm and Home sessions at Cornell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burger Saturday evening in honor of the latter's birthday.

Mrs. Conrad Christensen of Krumville, Lincoln Christensen of Hurley and Oscar Christensen of this place spent Sunday at Long Island.

Jay Cee Cee Camp

Reunion Set April 3

There will be a reunion of all Camp Jay Cee Cee campers of the 1957 camp season Thursday, April 3, from 2:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. at the Jewish Community Center. A program of songs, games, movies and refreshments is planned for all ages.

This will be an opportunity for all of last year's campers to meet their friends from camp and renew their friendship. The counselors are looking forward to again seeing the children they worked with and with whom they shared many pleasant experiences.

Everyone interested in Camp Jay Cee Cee, children and parents are welcome to attend this reunion. Last year's camp director, Dick McCormick, will be on hand to greet one and all and answer questions about Camp Jay Cee Cee for 1958.

During the Show

Troy Stone decided to take her shoes off while driving home from a shopping trip and tossed them in the back seat.

A couple of days later, she looked for the shoes and found only one. Then she recalled she had delivered some discarded garments to a rummage sale. She checked at the sale, and found her lost shoe.

House Adjourns
For Easter Rest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House called it quits today until after Easter on appropriating the taxpayers' money to operate the government.

Unopposed passage yesterday of a $3,216,988,539 Agriculture Department financing bill hiked to $22,274,000,000 funds voted this year by the House in 10 appropriation measures.

This is almost 500 million dollars more than the President requested, and some of the big bills are still to come.

Only four of the House-passed measures have cleared the Senate, which has slightly increased House-voted allotments.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Dr. John J. Kelley is resigning his post as dean of New Haven State College to head a State Department educational mission to Brazil.

Kelley's resignation was announced today by Hilton C. Buley, president of the New Haven college.

Kelley lives with his wife and daughter in nearby Orange. He is a native of Schenectady, N. Y.

Bias Against Jews in State
Less: Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Discrimination against Jews in New York State has diminished, the State Commission Against Discrimination reports.

The discrimination still evident, SCAD Chairman Charles Abrams said yesterday, is not always due to prejudice on the part of personnel managers or executives.

Instead, said Abrams, such discrimination frequently may be attributed to the "surviving vestiges of old practices."

A total of 4,685 complaints have been brought before SCAD since it was established in 1945. Of these, 567 involved Jews, Abrams reported.

He said 207 cases of Jewish complaints were sustained after investigation between 1945 and 1949. Last year only 10 cases were sustained, Abrams said.

The decline in Jewish cases from 1945 to the present has been steady, the chairman said.

SCAD takes up complaints filed with it under a state law prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color or national origin.

When valid complaints are not resolved by conciliation, a public hearing is held. Court action may follow.

Will Deport Bufalino

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Russell Bufalino of Pittston, Pa. today was ordered deported as an undesirable alien.

The order was released by the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service as a result of hearings before Examiner Abraham Gold earlier this year. The hearings were called after it was revealed that Bufalino, a native of Sicily, had attended the gangland meeting at Apalachin, N. Y. last November.

President Calls Soviet Test Ban Another Gimmick

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Russia's nuclear test ban announcement is just a gimmick which should not be taken seriously.

Eisenhower told a news conference that evaluation does not mean, however, we should stop trying to find a common ground for agreement with the Soviet Union.

Recalls Efforts

He recalled repeated U. S. efforts over the years seeking agreement with Russia in the disarmament, nuclear test and other fields.

And he said we should keep on trying to win agreement.

The President said he does not believe there is any justification for labeling the U. S. position a negative one just because it is being firm in the interest of the United States and the rest of the world.

Some critics in Congress and elsewhere have contended the administration's position has been negative.

A good deal of the questioning at the new conference dealt with whether the United States could have gained if it had labeled the Russian test ban as just propaganda in advance of the Soviet announcement.

The announcement by Russia had been widely forecast.

Eisenhower replied that was considered by this government—along with the possibility of the United States' making the first move toward banning tests—but that both proposals were rejected on the grounds that Russia was only seeking to gain from a propaganda standpoint.

Other Matters

Eisenhower was in a cheerful, jaunty mood at the conference which also dealt with these other matters:

Recession—Eisenhower said anew the government must give very careful thought to the idea of an anti-recession tax cut. He added forcefully that if we don't approach the problem of the business slump very seriously, we will build trouble for ourselves in the future. Such trouble, the President said, would make the current recession look small by comparison.

Speaking of the $1,850,000,000 housing bill he signed yesterday, Eisenhower repeated his criticism of some provisions. The main thing needed, he said, is to encourage private spending. He said business can't be stimulated just by expenditure of federal money.

Ike Asks $1.4 Billion More for Bombers, Subs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for an extra $1,455,747,000 in defense appropriations, mainly to acquire B52 bombers and build more missile-firing submarines.

His request was in the form of a memorandum to the House Appropriations Committee asking for an increase of that amount in the defense budget for the year starting July 1. If granted, this would boost fiscal 1959 defense appropriations beyond 40 billion dollars.

Of the amount requested, $218,100,000 would be for the Army, $130,000,000 for outer space research programs, $206,800,000 to build two additional Polaris-firing submarines, and $318,400,000 to build more big bombers and plane refueling tankers.

The Army's allotment would be used mainly to speed up missile programs. A large share of the Navy's money would be for anti-submarine warfare programs.

State Solon Retiring

SKANEATELES (AP)—State Sen. Searles G. Shultz, 60, has announced his retirement from public office after more than 20 years service.

The Republican senator made the announcement yesterday in a letter to George K. Traister, Onondaga County Republican chairman.

Shultz represented the 44th senatorial district for four years. Prior to his election to the Senate, he served in the State Assembly and was a justice of the peace in this Onondaga County village.

May Be From Sputnik

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—A mysterious vapor trail across the sky this morning aroused speculation among New Zealanders that it came from Russia's Sputnik II, scheduled to drop into the earth's atmosphere any day and burn up.

The government air department suggested that it came from an American jet tanker taking Gen. Curtis LeMay home. LeMay, U. S. Air Force vice chief of staff, has been attending anniversary celebrations of the New Zealand Air Force.

Four New York Men Charged With Theft From Firm They Are Accused of Buying

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four New York men face a grand jury indictment charging them with theft of $1,900,000 from the firm they are accused of buying with the money.

The Orleans Parish (County) grand jury yesterday returned the indictments against financier Sinclair Robinson and his associates, R. W. Phillips, Wilfred C. Allen and Rex V. Lentz. They were charged with using the money taken from Williams-McWilliams Industries, Inc., to buy control of the contracting and dredging firm.

$10,000 Bonds Asked
Dist. Atty. Leon Hubert Jr. recommended bonds of $10,000 each.

Asst. Dist. James Garrison told the grand jury Lentz and Allen appeared at the National Bank of Commerce here during the morning of Nov. 7, 1956, and removed $1,900,000 in negotiable government bonds belonging to Williams-McWilliams.

They had presented a note signed by Phillips as new president of the firm, Garrison said, although the old board did not approve the sale to the Robinson group until after noon.

Adroitly Timed
"By an adroitly timed maneuver," Garrison said, "Robinson and his associates obtained the bonds by means of a false instrument representing that they had already acquired ownership of Williams-McWilliams, then they immediately employed the bonds as security to obtain release of a $1,700,000 pre-arranged loan from a Miami bank."

"With this money, which they obtained from the use of Williams-McWilliams bonds, they completed purchase of the controlling stock of Williams-McWilliams Industries."

The entire operation, Garrison said, was accomplished before officers of Williams-McWilliams knew the bonds had been removed because "the Williams-McWilliams directors were kept occupied in New York by Robinson who was supposedly about to purchase the controlling interest."

The meeting was postponed hour after hour by Robinson while his agents obtained the bonds.

Denies Charges
In New York, Robinson issued a statement in which he said he categorically denied the charges and asserted that the New Orleans action "significantly comes just one week before the culmination of a proxy fight" for control of the company.

Reached at his home in Greenwich, Conn., Phillips said he didn't know anything about the indictment and added: "I'm the chairman and I had nothing to do with removing any bonds."

The financier said that tax cuts and large public works programs financed by red-ink spending "in the face of a tremendous national debt and expenditure, it is folly to talk of tax reductions."

The 87-year-old financier also contended this is not the time "to embark on vast federal works or other pump-priming programs requiring deficit financing."

Baruch gave his opinions to a Congress teeming with tax reduction and public works schemes to fight the economic recession.

His appearance before the Senate Finance Committee marked a resumption of hearings, begun last year, into the nation's financial condition.

The hearings centered on the problems of inflation in a booming economy when they started last summer. They resume in an entirely different economic atmosphere, although prices remain at peak levels.

But Baruch told the committee in prepared testimony inflation "is the most important fact of our time—the single greatest peril to our economic health."

"We are now suffering a hangover after a long inflationary binge," he said. "This recession is the inevitable aftermath of a period of inflation that could at least have been mitigated if not prevented."

$75,000 Awaits Minister if He Will Change Name

OMAHA (AP)—If he is willing to change his name, the Rev. Glen Victor Alt of Snyder, N. Y., can get the bulk of a $75,000 estate.

Norris P. Crafts of Omaha so provided in his will.

Crafts, a postal clerk who died March 24 at the age of 79, built his estate through real estate transactions, a close friend said when the will was filed for probate yesterday.

The will provides that the Rev. Mr. Alt, a nephew of Crafts, will get the bulk of the estate if he is willing to change his name to Crafts and if he has a son.

Crafts had no children and friends said he drew up his will requesting the clergyman to take the name Crafts so the name would be perpetuated.

In Snyder, a suburb of Buffalo, the Rev. Mr. Alt said today, "I have not been notified officially and I've made no decision."

The 39-year-old Methodist minister, father of four sons, said of his uncle, "I knew him but I hadn't seen him more than a half-dozen times in my life."

The Rev. Mr. Alt is given a year to decide whether he wants to accept the provisions. If he rejects the request he will receive an interest-bearing $500 bond or $1,000 in cash, the same bequest made to a dozen other relatives of Crafts.

Picture Is Gloomy For Durable Goods

NEW YORK (AP)—Metal producers are taking some hard statistical blows these days as the recession in durable goods shows little signs of abating.

While some producers are convinced better times are ahead, the immediate picture is clouded in gloom.

Lowest in 9 Years
Within the past few days steel production has been scheduled at the lowest point in nine years, the price of aluminum has been cut for the first time since the 1940s and the price of lead has suffered another drop.

Production of nickel was recently cut 10 per cent by the world's largest producer, International Nickel Co. Kennecott Copper Co. slashed copper output 3,500 tons last month following previous cuts by it and other companies.

Allied-Kennecott Titanium Corp. has delayed construction of a titanium mill because of a lag in government demand for titanium. The American Iron & Steel Institute says steel production this week is scheduled at a rate to produce 1,238,000 tons, lowest for any non-strike week since the week starting July 4, 1949. The rate is at 48.09 per cent of capacity.

Excellent Barometer
Steel, of course, is an excellent barometer of how the durable goods industries, such as automobiles, oil drilling, and construction, are getting along. It's also an important influence itself on other industries, such as railroad freight car loadings and coal production.

The big trouble is steel rests with the auto industry. Auto sales are far down and there's a possibility of a strike. Auto producers aren't interested in accumulating any inventories of steel.

The copper price has held unchanged at 25 cents a pound since January. However, the red metal had a terrific price drop prior to this year—the way down from a 92-year peak of 46 cents a pound in 1956.

A spokesman for a large copper company says demand for copper in Europe is very strong but that in the United States it "remains about the same." He says the industry is still hopeful for a pickup in demand over the next few months.

Mild Weekend Is Seen, Rainfall Light

ALBANY (AP)—The extended forecasts for New York State prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Monday:

Eastern New York—A warming trend at the beginning and mild over the weekend. Temperatures averaging 2 to 4 degrees above normal. Rainfall is expected to be light, with possibly little or non-occurring. Favorable conditions are expected for maple sap flow with sub-freezing temperatures at higher elevations during the night and mild, sunny days most of the period.

Western New York—A pleasant period is indicated with temperatures averaging a few degrees above normal. Fine spring weather throughout. No important temperature changes, with warm days and cool nights. Some chance of showers during the weekend. Otherwise, little or no rain expected.

Temperature Normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from early morning lows from the middle 20s to low 30s to afternoon highs in the middle 40s to low 50s.

Cites Inflation Hangover

Baruch Opposes Tax Cut, Vast Federal Works Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch told Congress Tuesday that, "in the face of a tremendous national debt and expenditure, it is folly to talk of tax reductions."

The 87-year-old financier also contended this is not the time "to embark on vast federal works or other pump-priming programs requiring deficit financing."

Baruch gave his opinions to a Congress teeming with tax reduction and public works schemes to fight the economic recession.

Farm Leaders See Lower Income on President's Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm leaders estimated today President Eisenhower's veto of legislation to freeze farm price supports at not less than 1957 level could reduce farmers' gross income from affected products by half a billion dollars this year.

By gross income is meant the amount producers receive before paying production costs.

But this does not necessarily mean that total gross farm income would be reduced by that amount. It would be possible for returns from unsupported products—such as hogs, cattle, sheep, lambs, poultry, fruits and vegetables—to offset, if not exceed, the potential income reductions on the supported commodities.

The estimate of the lower income from supported commodities is based upon the assumption that market prices will drop as much as the price supports. Special economic factors could enter the picture to hold prices of some or all the products above the support levels, in which case the reduction would be smaller if not eliminated.

However, there appears to be nothing in the outlook to indicate that prices of most of the supported products will hold above the lower supports.

In vetoing the bill, Eisenhower in effect endorsed lower supports for wheat, corn, barley, rye, grain sorghums, dairy products, flaxseed, cottonseed, rice, dry beans and honey which Secretary of Agriculture Benson had ordered.

Rough estimates of potential losses in gross income from commodities with lower supports included: wheat 220 million dollars, corn 120 million, dairy products 200 million.
